NOT WITH HOLDER, RIVERS DECLARES

Elberton, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Senator E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor, addressed the people of Stephens, Hart and Elbert counties today, speaking at Toccoa, Hartwell and Elberton respectively, before immense audiences, who cheered him justly while he spoke and gave him a tremendous ovation at the close of each address.

"The charges made by Governor Hardman," Senator Rivers declared, "that I am aligned or connected in any manner with the present state highway chairman is a fallacy that can not be substantiated by proof. I have repeatedly challenged Dr. Hardman to meet me face to face before the voters of the state of Georgia and give him an opportunity to accomplish what he can towards proof of the unwarranted charges he has made against my official record. Would that I had an opportunity to divide time with Governor Hardman before the good people of my state to show him as I am showing the voters of Georgia what a dire failure his administration has been and to answer any further charges that to the governor and his political experts may scheme and devise against me personally and against my record as a representative of the people of my state.

"I deplore both as unreasonable, unwarranted and unfair to the unbiased voters of the state the expenditure by Dr. Hardman of more than $6,000 weekly in advertising false charges that he and a whole army of political experts cannot substantiate by meeting me face to face before the people.

"I stand with the Jeffersonian principles of democracy in holding no brief for wealth and moneyed interests insofar as those interests do not oppress those with lesser means.

"The expenditure of thousands of dollars of money in order to misrep-

WATKINS DEFENDS HARDMAN RECORD

Jeffersonville, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Before a crowded courtroom Edgar Watkins, prominent Atlanta attorney Wednesday defended the candidacy of Governor Hardman for reelection and severely criticized those who, he declared, are seeking personal preferment "at the expense of the public."

Senator Rivers drew the fire of the speaker, and his campaign was particularly flayed.

"Selfish politicians seeking personal preferment at the expense of the public are retarding the development of our state. This condition should end and the people can end it," Mr. Watkins said.

"Anyone has the right to run for office, but no patriotic citizen will obstruct the orderly processes of legislation in order to claim that a public official has failed utterly to obtain constructive legislation in the interest of the people. A senator of Georgia who heads a conspiracy of his fellow senators for the purpose of preventing the governor from making effective his platform in the interest of the people violates in spirit, if not in letter, his oath of office. Should such a senator be rewarded for his unpatriotic conduct by being made governor of our state?"

"These are questions of sound public policy and have nothing to do with personalities."

"The opponent of Governor Hardman may be ever so attractive, plausible, and shrewd, although I am informed that his popularity decreases the nearer you come to his home, and he never has done anything but obstruct. Judged from his platform he is a promising young man, but judged by his public record his performances consist wholly in putting rocks and tacks in the legislative road. He promises nine months schools. We all would like to see our children given all possible educational opportunities. Why did not Legislator Rivers offer legislation providing a fair tax system which might make such schools possible without adding to the intolerable burdens which our land now bears."

Raps Rivers' Promises.

"He promises monthly pay to old soldiers, but as a legislator he opposed issuing scrip that these soldiers might be paid promptly."

"He now offers to strike 'aid' from the highway law. Why did he not propose as a legislator what he now proposes to do that when he could, at least, have introduced a bill therefor. He actually opposed reducing the number of useless oil inspectors. As a promoter he is fine, but he shows no fruits of performance."

"Having read the messages of Governor Hardman recommending and

JOHN LAMAR REID, FORMER GRIFFIN PIONEER, PASSES

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—John Lamar Reid, 74, of Griffin, died Wednesday at a local hospital. He was a retired agent of the Central of Georgia railway, having served in that capacity in Griffin for a number of years. He is survived by two daughters, both of Griffin, Mrs. E. F. Carlie and Mrs. J. C. Nutt; one sister, Mrs. Charles Massey, Walnut Springs, Texas.

Mr. Reid was a past master in the Masonic order and a member of the Knights of Pythias, also a deacon in the Baptist church.

INJURED FIREMAN IN ATHENS WRECK WHITE, NOT NEGRO

Athens, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Seab Young, fireman, who was injured in the wreck of the combination freight and passenger train here yesterday, is a white man and not a Negro, as reported by the Associated Press. The Associated Press was glad to make this correction. Ben Ezell, of Athens, the engineer, was also injured. The injuries to Messrs. Young and Ezell were reported as slight. No passengers were hurt. Georgia railroad officials are endeavoring to ascertain the cause of the wreck.

urging laws reducing and reorganizing the state's 180 costly and inefficient departments and having in part been responsible for preventing the legislature from acting thereon to the benefit of the state, he now promises in his platform to do what the governor would have done except for Senator Rivers' bloc."

"Any thoughtful student of conditions here will be struck by the request for early nearly cessation by announcing there will not be a dinner tendered the fliers, but they will be accorded privileges of the Country Club. Augustans will be requested to furnish automobiles to ride the aviators about town."

The planes will take off from Daniel field here Sunday morning at 7 o'clock to continue their westward trip, it was announced.

U. S. PLANE SQUAD TO VISIT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Government flying emissaries like their golf and their sleep, it is indicated in a letter invited to local authorities who are planning Augusta's welcome to the nine Keystone bombing planes which are to tarry here Saturday en route to Los Angeles from Langley Field, Va.

The flight of ships will approach the city in battle formation, prepared to "attack" the city. They are duomotored planes measuring 78 feet from wing tip to wing tip, and capable of 90 miles an hour.

Regarding the type of entertainment anticipated by the flight in Augusta, Lieutenant Wilton M. Briner, publicity officer at Langley Field, has requested that all social functions be limited so that the personnel of the "bombarding" group may reach their quarters by 9 p. m.

"In the past, on trips similar to this one, the wonderful hospitality shown by the citizens of the towns visited included functions which continued until the later hours of the evening," the letter explains. "It was perfectly natural that these hospitable people did not know that airplane inspection and maintenance work was required at each stop. This necessitated hard and hurried work of this sort, plus the maximum flying each day to maintain schedule."

The communication relates that the flying personnel has expressed a preference to "see the city in reality," including golf courses and similar areas of recreation that can best be enjoyed only in the daytime.

Augusta has conformed to the request for early nearly cessation by announcing there will not be a dinner tendered the fliers, but they will be accorded privileges of the Country Club. Augustans will be requested to furnish automobiles to ride the aviators about town."

The planes will take off from Daniel field here Sunday morning at 7 o'clock to continue their westward trip, it was announced.

HANCOCK POULTRY RAISERS REPORT SCARCITY OF EGGS

Sparta, Ga., August 29.—The poultry raisers of Hancock county report an acute scarcity of eggs from their flocks during the past few weeks which shortage has caused the product to soar to forty cents per dozen. Many of the farmers own flocks of white leghorn which have furnished eggs for shipment to contract buyers in various cities all during the year but now the hens are molting and have ceased laying.

The majority of the fancy eggs shipped from here go to hospitals where only day-old eggs are used. They pay a year-round price for the eggs which enables the poultrymen to realize a profit by getting a high price at times when the market is low. The farmers expect to keep their shipments up as near to the limit as possible and hope to increase their shipments during the early fall. Many of them have spring pullets which will begin laying soon.

HOME COMING DAY WILL BE OBSERVED BY LIBERTY CHURCH

Covington, Ga., August 29.—Citizens of Liberty church section are planning a homecoming day which will be held at the church on Sunday, October 7. All residents, former pastors and members to the church are cordially invited to attend the celebration, which will be featured by a large noon-hour basket dinner.

A sermon will be preached by the Rev. Zed Speer, of Swainsboro, Ga., who was born, reared and educated in Newton county. Special music for the occasion will be furnished by the Dixie quartet, of Atlanta, which is composed of Frank Vining, Fred Farrent, J. S. Piger and Professor Conn.

BALDWIN COUNTY BOY RECOVERING FROM GUN WOUND

Milledgeville, Ga., August 29.—Paul McConnell, Baldwin county youth, is convalescing at the city hospital from a serious wound which was inflicted when a shotgun which he was dragging along the ground accidentally went off and discharged its load into the lower part of his body.

The accident occurred near his home in Meriwether, and the youth was rushed to the city hospital here, where the shot was dislodged from his body and he is recovering.

GEORGIAN IS INVENTOR OF NEW TYPE AUTO TAG

Waycross, Ga., August 29.—T. R. Fluker, former manager of the Georgia Power and Light company here, has invented a new automobile license tag. This tag will be placed on the market by the National Sealing company.

The basic idea of the new tag is that it is sealed to the car so that it cannot be removed without destroying the tag. The design is similar in appearance to the one now in use, being of the same size and material. However, the new tag has two small tabs at the top which fold over the bolt heads after the tag has been put in place. The bolts cannot be removed without destroying the tabs or seals, and as these tabs carry the state name and date the tag is useless without the tabs. If an officer sees that a tag is unsealed or mutilated he will know it is not accidental.

This information will assist the officers in locating stolen cars and in ordering investigations. It will also cut down the large loss because of stolen tags.

Revival.

Milledgeville, Ga., August 29.—Rev. J. H. Farr, pastor of the Milledgeville Methodist church, is conducting a revival this week at his church at Bethel, near Meriwether. Rev. John Yarbrough, pastor of the Milledgeville Methodist church, is preaching there twice daily and unusually large crowds are attending.

Injunction Dropped.

Waycross, Ga., August 29.—At the request of the petitioners the temporary restraining order against the local division of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which was granted by Judge J. D. Blalock, has been withdrawn.

The petitioners—George Hall, W. P. Carew, J. W. Kiehl and A. C. Darling—had asked for the temporary order restraining the Waycross division from interfering with the petitioners as members of the locomotive engineers' protective committee, and from levying any assessment against members of the division.

Miss Staten Heads Democratic Women Of Lowndes County

Valdosta, Ga., August 29.—Miss Klein Staten, of this city, a member of a widely-known family, has been named as chairman of the Lowndes county democratic women's committee. The appointment was made by Mrs. Edward Alexander, national democratic committeewoman for the state.

Miss Staten has accepted the appointment and will conduct the campaign for organizing the women of the county.

MEDICAL SCHOOL STUDENT IS GIVEN 4 YEARS IN PEN

T. A. Slapper, 23, of Albany, student at a local medical school, pleaded guilty Wednesday to four charges of automobile larceny and was sentenced to four years imprisonment by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court.

J. E. Richardson, 19, and Robert F. Young, pleaded guilty to the theft of three automobiles and were sentenced to three years each. All three youths had lived together at a downtown hotel, according to police.

HOME FOR Sale or Rent

Is your home going begging on the MARKET?

Many of the finest homes in the South are going begging on the market because the furnace is not equal to the Moncrief Standard of excellence. Buyers who are seeking desirable homes or tenants who want comforts and conveniences subject the heating plants to a thoroughly critical inspection. A furnace without an established reputation and not backed by a reputable manufacturer is looked upon with disfavor.

The Moncrief Furnace has met the most exacting demands of home owners and tenants for 30 years. Its installation is scientifically planned by our own heating engineers and its performance is closely watched by factory experts.

And whether your property is for sale, or rent, or whether you continue to occupy it yourself, you will find the Moncrief Furnace an investment that will show abundant returns in comfort, health and profits.

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE

YOU DON'T HEAR IT START--YOU DON'T HEAR IT STOP
YOU DON'T HEAR IT RUN

Don't miss the special demonstration--all this week

THOUSANDS of people have seen our special demonstration of the New Frigidaire. Thousands more will see it on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The last three days of the special demonstration.

Even if you have only a few minutes to spare, don't put off any longer seeing this latest development in automatic refrigeration.

See for yourself the conveniences that women everywhere are talking about. See the beautiful new cabinets, the wide range of models; and above all check for yourself the incredibly quiet operation of the New Frigidaire. You don't hear it start. You don't hear it stop. You don't hear it run.

The pre-tested automatic refrigerator

That the New Frigidaire might be quiet, powerful, convenient, dependable, a great many tests and experiments have been carried on over a number of years. Sound-proof rooms have been constructed. Sound-recording instruments have been used... more delicate than the human ear. The New Frigidaire has operated for days in rooms with a temperature of 100°. It has been tested for long periods in rooms filled with steam.

Extensive tests like these, coupled with the experience Frigidaire has gained in the production of more than 500,000 Frigidaires for actual service, make the New Frigidaire truly a pre-tested automatic refrigerator.

See the New Frigidaire for yourself... today

We want you to see how much time, work and worry the New Frigidaire will save you in your own home.

The special demonstration lasts all this week. For your convenience we are open each night until 10 o'clock... but don't put it off... come in now.

Low prices and easy terms

The Frigidaire Corporation believes that every household in America should have automatic refrigeration... for health... for economy. The New Frigidaire carries new low prices and easy General Motors terms... prices and terms which make it possible for everyone to have the benefits of Frigidaire now.

The shelves of this New Frigidaire cabinet are all at convenient height. Frigidaire engineers made it possible to conceal the compressor completely.

HOKE SMITH LAUDS GOVERNOR SMITH

Calhoun, Ga., August 29.—Commanding Alfred E. Smith as a courageous and strictly fair-minded exponent of basic principles of the democratic party, former Senator Hoke Smith spoke at the opening of the superior court at Calhoun Wednesday at noon before an enthusiastic audience of several hundred citizens of this and surrounding sections of the state.

Mr. Smith expressed warmest admiration for the career of Smith, pointing to his record in the New York legislature, where he distinguished himself and won the support of upstate and western state New Yorkers by his sympathetic insight into the problems of the smaller cities and rural sections of New York.

"As no other member of the New York legislature has done in this generation," Mr. Smith said, "Alfred E. Smith has proven himself open-minded, scornful of petty prejudice and personal aggrandizement. As chairman of the ways and means committee of the legislature he brought about benefits for agriculture, education and labor by which the state is benefitting today."

Joe M. Lang is chairman of the democratic committee of Gordon county; Albert C. Sweet, secretary, and O. W. Lewis, treasurer. Henry Lay is chairman of the membership committee. They assured the audience that, though Gordon county has gone republican three times during the past 20 years, Smith will command a large majority in the coming presidential campaign.

Mr. Smith's visit to the county and his warm reception, was an indication of the democratic sentiment in the section, leaders said. The former governor and senator will speak for the democratic nominee throughout the state.

POPULAR MINISTRY SCORED IN SERMON BY DR. WILKINSON

The greatest foe of Christianity is the prevailing infidelity in churches of today, and it is bearing fruit in the ruin of the home and downfall of the youth, according to Benjamin G. Wilkinson, Ph. D., dean of theology, Washington Missionary college, Washington, D. C., in a lecture at the annual conference and camp meeting of Seventh-day Adventists Wednesday night.

"Not only are the secular colleges and universities of this land shot through with modernism and infidelity, but 95 per cent of the Christian colleges and seminaries are tainted or corrupted by it," Dr. Wilkinson emphatically declared. "Our youth are taught that moral standards may change with the caprice, whims, and fashions of the ages. And religion has become a Sunday-go-to-meeting affair that men should wear on one day of the week to hang up in a closet the remainder of time. Yet Jesus Christ taught us how to live a life fit for every day of the week."

"Our youth are taught an ethical, or social gospel instead of a soul-saving gospel. The family altar is more rare than an Egyptian mummy, while millions eat their daily bread with no gratitude to God for it, and this in homes of professed Christians," the doctor went on to say.

These conditions in the Christian homes and schools, Dr. Wilkinson charged against a popular ministry that seeks position, power and publicity. "A recent questioning of over four hundred ministers of the churches of Chicago," Dr. Wilkinson said, "revealed an astounding trend of infidelity among the clergy. Disbelief in prayer, in the virgin birth, in the Divinity of Christ, in the power of prophecy, in creation, and in the inspiration of the Bible, or its freedom from myth or legend, where among some of the revelations of the questionnaires. And some of the clergymen went so far as to discredit the Lord's sinlessness and bodily resurrection."

Mrs. Orvis, Former Atlantan, Senator George Ends His Florida Speaking Tour

MRS. HOMER W. ORVIS.

New York, August 29.—(AP)—The Evening Post says that a report that Mrs. Homer W. Orvis, formerly Miss Emma D. Hill, of Atlanta, has gone to Reno, Nev., to get a divorce from her socially prominent stock broker husband was confirmed today by Mrs. Orvis.

The move to the Reno court, the Post says, follows failure of Mrs. Orvis to get a divorce in October, 1927. She was accompanied to her Atlanta home and thence west by her sister, Miss Nancy DuBois, with whom she had been living here.

Supreme Court Justice Valentine last October allowed Mrs. Orvis $200 a week alimony and $2,000 counsel fees pending trial of the divorce action.

Mrs. Orvis charged her husband had been too friendly with another woman in New York while Mrs. Orvis was in Palm Beach. The court later ruled she did not have enough evidence and refused to grant the divorce.

Mrs. Homer W. Orvis went to school at Washington seminary and boarded at the institution, having come to Atlanta from Washington, Wilkes county, where her family has been numbered for generations as among the most aristocratic and representative in the south.

Mrs. Orvis has often visited her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hill on Peachtree road, and was one of the most prominent opera visitors in the city during the season of 1927. She is very popular socially and is unusually beautiful, being of a Spanish blonde type, and of medium height.

Her marriage to Mr. Orvis was one of the brilliant events of some ten years ago in Atlanta and Mr. Orvis was accompanied by a group of prominent New Yorkers to witness his marriage to the Georgia beauty which took place in the First Baptist church.

Senator George Ends His Florida Speaking Tour

Lakeland, Fla., August 29.—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, who opened the national campaign in the south for Governor Al E. Smith and Senator Joe Robinson, at Tampa, last Saturday, was en route to Atlanta today, having concluded his Florida speaking tour here last night.

Arriving in the Georgia capital, he planned to join a party of friends who will go to Hot Springs, Ark., to attend the ceremonies incident to the notification of Senator Joe Robinson of his selection as democratic vice presidential nominee tomorrow night.

Speaking at Bradenton Monday night and here yesterday evening, he discussed national issues and urged the cause of the party leaders along lines similar to those in his Tampa address.

The Georgia senator was introduced here by Senator Park Trammell, Lakeland, junior member of the upper house from Florida, who declared his allegiance to party nominees, both national and state. Congressman H. J. Drane, also of Lakeland, made a brief address, reiterating his position in favor of the party leaders.

C. A. Boswell, Bartow, member of the state democratic committee, who presided at the local meeting, declared afterwards that Senator George's work in this state had done much to clear the atmosphere and unify democrats.

FILLING STATION OPERATOR JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Macon, Ga., August 29.—(AP)—L. E. Ross, former Fort Lauderdale, Fla., policeman, and more recently operator of a gasoline filling station near Quitman, Ga., was sentenced by Judge Bascom S. Deaver in federal court here today to serve nine months in jail for violation of the national prohibition act. Rollie Ross, 25, son of L. E. Ross, was fined $50 on the same charge. Both men pleaded guilty.

The elder Ross, it was brought out in court, was among a number of policemen and sheriff's deputies who were indicted in Florida last year on charges of bribery and conspiracy, but the principal witness for the government, it was stated, had been subsequently killed and the charges were said to have been dropped. Ross declared that the Florida affair was a "political frame up."

SINGLE PAY ROLL URGED FOR CITY

Establishment by Atlanta of a single department for handling all city pay rolls and recommendation that certain changes be made in the financial system feature the 1927 audit of the city books by Ham Edison and company, certified public accountants, submitted to Mayor Ragsdale and made public by him Wednesday.

At the present time each department of the city government handles its own pay rolls and makes disbursements for its respective departments.

Total receipts for the year were $18,068,881.46, while disbursements totaled $14,701,512.18.

Police Books Criticized.

Attention also was called to the unsatisfactory conditions of accounts of the police department. The audit shows discrepancies in numerous cases between the amount of fines paid, as shown on the books, and in the recorder's docket.

The condition has been remedied in regards to police court, it is understood, and a captain from the department has been appointed to act as cashier during sessions of recorder's court.

The auditors also point out that deductions and cancellations of $58,282.44 during the past 18 months in the street improvement collector's office is rather large, but the report added that the books of the office were correct and that the deductions were authorized by city council. The concessions in most cases were granted to churches and charitable organizations.

Auditors' Report.

The auditors' figures for the receipts and expenditures of the city government for 1927 are as follows:

RASKOB CHARGES EXCESSIVE FUND

St. Louis, August 29.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, reiterated here today that the republicans are trying to raise a budget in excess of the $4,000,000 campaign fund announced by the republican national committee.

Raskob's attention was directed to the statement by Chairman Work of the republican committee that Raskob's assertion that the republicans are planning to raise a fund of from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 was "absurd."

Source Explained.

"The information came to me," Raskob said, "from well advised republicans who know what the campaign funds plans are. I still maintain that they are trying to raise a budget in excess of $4,000,000."

Before departing tonight with many other democratic leaders for Hot Springs, Ark., to attend the formal notification of Senator Robinson, the vice-presidential nominee, Raskob said the democratic national campaign fund would not exceed $4,000,000.

Asked whether he would revise the list of states which he predicted Smith would carry, after hearing reports of democrats of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, Raskob said: "I probably now would make it stronger."

Illinois Conditions.

Bruce Campbell, Thomas Donovan and others from Illinois, complained because "I failed to include Illinois in the table of Smith states," the chairman said. "After I heard what they had to say about conditions over there it occurred to me that perhaps I should have included that state."

And up in Iowa the leaders are sanguine and confident. Leaders were disposed, like those of Illinois, to feel piqued because I did not include Iowa in the victory column."

Raskob's first statement here, listing enough states in the Smith column to give the democratic nominee 309 of the 531 electoral votes, also was impounded by Work.

HARDMAN HIGHWAY CHARGES DENIED

Denying that there has been "extravagance and waste" in the state highway department, charged by Governor I. G. Hardman in a statement issued Sunday, members of the state highway board Wednesday made public a reply to the Hardman charges, in which they stated that the governor had "abusively criticized" the department in his utterances.

It also was denied that the department has spent $100,000,000, the board stating that the total expenditures of the department amounted to $76,047,926. The board denied, too, that the department was in debt $35,000,000, as charged by the governor. The debt owed counties for "advances" by the department through acts of the legislature, for which the board was not responsible, it was stated.

Concerning the charge by the governor that employees of the department are furnished with automobiles, the board stated that this was done to facilitate the work of the department. The board said most of these cars were furnished to engineers.

The board also denied that "road machinery is stacked on the sides of roads rusting," and asked the governor to point out any such machinery. In the statement reference is made to a letter sent by the board to Sam J. Slate, state auditor and Mr. Slate's reply. A copy of this letter was printed in The Constitution Wednesday morning.

The statement is as follows:

Holder Letter.

"To the People of Georgia: The governor of the state has issued a statement, which was published in the newspapers of Sunday, August 26, in which he abusively criticized the state highway board. Had he confined himself to facts, no reply would have been forthcoming from us. We are not involved in his political contest, and we do not intend to allow ourselves to be injected into it. Had the statement come from a less responsible source we would have made no correction, but the governor is the head of the state departments and when he mistakes facts which are vital to the interest of the state, we feel impelled to correct them.

"He says: 'There has been a gross expenditure of $100,000,000 in 13 years of organized activity.' As a matter of fact, the state highway board was approved in 1915 and the state highway board did not begin to function until January, 1920, less than nine years ago. The gross amount expended for all purposes, including federal aid, state and county aid, gas tax, motor vehicle license fees, for construction, for maintenance, for expenses of operation, for machinery, for emergency and for all other purposes whatsoever, from the organization of the department to January 1, 1928, was $76,047,926.44 and not $100,000,000.

Denies $35,000,000 Debt.

"He says the state highway department owes today $35,000,000. This is totally incorrect and without foundation. If to the amount due the counties for county participation there should be added the amount which will be due contractors on unfinished contracts when completed and which includes every possible obligation of this department, the aggregate is far less than $35,000,000. The law providing for county participation was not made by this board. It was enacted by the general assembly in 1919 and was the plan provided by statute for financing the highway department. The obligations which accrued under this law were obligations imposed by the law. This law expressly provides that this contingent liability for county participation shall not be discharged until after the entire system of county seat to county seat highways shall have been completed. If funds were available this board could not discharge this contingent liability. To call it a debt created by this board is totally incorrect and unfounded. In order to utilize federal aid it had to be matched in some way with state funds. Until three years ago there was no gas tax with which to match the federal funds. They were matched, necessarily, if at all, by county participation, and this was recognized by the general assembly when it provided that this liability was not to be discharged until after the system was completed. It may have been a bad system of financing but it was not our system and was imposed upon the board by the law. The gross amount of such county participation since the organization of the state highway board, inclusive of the portion of the cost of highway construction, is $21,663,172.78 as of December 31, 1927. The only obligations owed by this department, except this contingent liability for county participation, is the amount which will be due contractors when their contracts are completed. This amount, as shown by the state auditor as of December 31, 1927, including federal funds and county participation was $9,101,418.53. This amount has been greatly reduced by virtue of the fact that contractors have been paid estimates on their work. This liability is carried on the books of the department as an 'income' or 'receivable.' It is not a debt unless a budget made up for any given year is reduced by a debt. The state auditor referring to this item in the appended letter says, 'The state highway board has not when and as work is done under the construction contracts.' As a matter of fact most of these contracts were made in the winter of 1927 and had not progressed far when the audit was made on December 31, 1927, showing an 'income' or 'receivable' as above stated. It is not a debt, but a concrete form, the construction program for the present year.

Debt "Less Than Half-Million."

"Eliminating the item of county participation, which could not be paid by the state highway board without legislative authority, and eliminating the 'income' or 'receivable' above referred to, the only debt remaining is not an indebtedness owed by the state highway board except current bills which have not been audited and contractors' estimates which have not been finally approved and which are in the aggregate less than $500,000. Someone gave the governor the wrong figure."

Pretty Girl and Baby Tigers Pals of Robinson Circus

Pretty Miss Ola DeForest, of the John Robinson circus, and two of her youthful feline charges.

Miss Ola DeForest, stunning performer with John Robinson's circus, enjoys playing and petting the babies of the big augmented menagerie. Her particular favorites are a pair of Royal Bengal cubs that some day, and not too far in the future, will grow into dangerous animals.

When John Robinson's circus comes here next Monday for afternoon and night performances at Spiller field, spectators will see a juvenile department in the mammoth zoo. Old Dr. Stork has been a frequent visitor to the Robinson menagerie and baby lions, tigers, pumas, leopards and kangaroos, as well as elephants and camels, are on exhibition.

One of the outstanding features of the 1928 program will be the presentation of "King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba," said to be the most beautiful circus spectacle ever produced.

Information with reference to the Coast Highway. He says: "It was built with funds obtained by a zone bond issue. Actually the funds which built it were derived as follows: Federal funds, $54,857.29; State funds, $2,775,544.64; and local funds, $880,652.48.

"The governor charges the state highway board with culpability in that we are building a patch-work road and are not paving roads more rapidly. We build roads where the law stipulates, that is from county seat to county seat, which necessarily means patch-work, as each county feels that its own road is as important as the road of any other county and we have them as rapidly as funds are available. We do not provide the funds. The general assembly does that. We can't make bricks without straw and we can't pave roads except to the extent of the funds made available by the laws of Georgia.

"The governor makes the statement that 'all over this state road machinery is stacked on the sides of the road, rusting, going to pieces and most instances he abandoned.' He can verify any part of this statement and we will greatly appreciate it. The statement is totally erroneous. We do not abandon machinery. We make frequent inspections in every division. We sometimes find equipment and machinery that is not working and we have them repaired. We are exceedingly careful that this criticism be not well founded. The division and maintenance engineers have not been well founded. The division and maintenance engineers have not been well founded. The division and maintenance engineers have not been well founded.

"In the operation of a great road building enterprise, quick transportation to outlying places is necessary and continuously necessary. Formerly the employees, including the engineers, were required to own their own cars, but for reasons which are not stated, the plan did not work well and a committee of the general assembly advised its abandonment and the substitution of state-owned vehicles for transportation. Most of the cars used by the highway department are used in the engineering department, including resident engineers, locating engineers, inspectors and construction engineers, and are distributed over the nine divisions of the state. This department could not function efficiently without these cars. The general office could travel for inspection and supervision purposes on trains and in hired cars, but we do not think the work would be as well done as when the engineers are in their own cars. The statement made by the governor that 'office clerks and others whose duties are confined to a desk and never have the slightest occasion for an official trip anywhere, ride in state-owned cars with cost of maintenance and fuel charged to the road fund' is not true. The statement with reference to the expense of operating the car driven by the chairman misrepresents the fact. The car was driven 67,000 miles and $712.00, or one-half the amount claimed for expense of operation, was spent in having the car worked over so as to save trading it in. The chairman does more riding over the state on highway duties than probably any employee of the department.

Admits "Minor Abuses."

"There are, of course, minor abuses. The state highway board endeavored to reduce such abuses to a minimum. In an organization of the magnitude of the state highway department of Georgia, some abuses are inevitable. Were these abuses as glaring as the governor's statement indicates, they would be reflected in the overhead expenses of the highway department.

MISSING FAMILY MAY BE OVERSEAS

Thomasville, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—The cloud of mystery enveloping the disappearance on July 21 of Captain and Mrs. A. E. Harrington, and baby, of Thomasville, has not been penetrated, no news of them having yet reached Andrew B. Clarke, father of Mrs. Harrington. The Harringtons left here on that date in a small car for a week's outing, which was to include a visit that evening to a friend, Mr. Clarke also learned from a neighbor here that Captain Harrington, Lord and Lady Harrington, of Hull, England. Succeeding this statement on the form was a notation to the effect that he requested that no communication be had with his family, as existing relations were unpleasant.

Mr. Clarke also learned from a neighbor here that Captain Harrington, shortly before leaving here with his family, made last statement that he would probably be in England some time in September. Mr. Clarke has always understood from Captain Harrington that while his mother is still alive his father died when he was a youth, and that one of his uncles is holding the title of Lord Harrington.

The funds which support the highway department are deposited in the treasury of Georgia. They are withdrawn only by a warrant signed by the governor which is accompanied by vouchers showing bills of particulars. Fair, Showers? Weatherman Has His Doubts

With one breath, the weather man Wednesday said that there is the possibility of showers late this afternoon, but with the next breath, he added that he does not think it very likely that the showers will occur.

The weather is still unsettled over the southeast and there is always the possibility under such conditions that a shower will come along in the late afternoon, but it is not a probability, said C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist.

Mr. von Herrmann expects temperatures of from 60 to 84 degrees today, the same as those of Wednesday. "September is just a few days off now, and we should be due for some settled weather before long," the weather man said. He expects today to be mostly fair.

Police Wednesday were asked to aid in the search for Harriette Anderson, 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. T. J. Anderson, of 1008 State street, N. W.

According to Mrs. Anderson, the girl left home at about 9:30 o'clock in the morning without telling anyone where she intended going. The mother told police that she was afraid that her daughter had met with foul play.

Miss Anderson was described as being of medium height, weight 140 pounds, bobbed blonde hair and blue eyes. She was wearing a blue skirt and a peach-colored, sleeveless blouse when last seen.

"MONARCH" OF HOBOES ARRIVES IN ATLANTA

Joseph Leon Lazarewitz, known as the "hobo monarch," arrived in this city Wednesday night for the second time within the year. He said that he was treated so kindly on his visit in May that he decided to make a second trip.

He has traveled 314,000 miles in the past eight years and nine months, according to his statement, and carried with him clippings filling a large volume to back up his claims. His travels have taken him all over the country and into Cuba, Canada and New foundland during the past year.

Hobbing 314,000 miles and being arrested only one time is the record displayed by the "king." The one instance in which he was taken into custody occurred since his previous trip to Atlanta. Albany, Ga., is the only city that has the honor of having him confined in a bastille. In this case he was taken from a freight car, where he was preparing to spend a comfortable night, and charged with riding a freight train without permission.

The case against him was dismissed when he showed the officials Governor Hardman's, Mayor Ragsdale's and President Coolidge's signatures in a little book that he carries with him.

YOUTH IS DROWNED WHILE SWIMMING IN FISHING POND

Decatur, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Maurice Montgomery, 16-year-old boy, was drowned while swimming in a pond in Cobb county Tuesday, despite heroic efforts of a chum, Robert Barrett, to save him.

Both boys were members of a party of Atlanta messengers who had gone in an automobile to Burdette's lake, a small fishing pond in Cobb county. According to other members of the party, young Montgomery apparently became exhausted and struggled in the middle of the pond. Barrett, seeing his friend's plight, struck out from the shore, but he himself was too exhausted when he reached the spot to rescue Montgomery.

Montgomery was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Montgomery, of 1500 DeKalb avenue. Young Barrett resides at 181 Merritt avenue, Atlanta.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS GIVEN 3-YEAR TERMS

Liability allowed once at request of his mother in Baltimore, Md., was absent Wednesday afternoon when E. B. Skellett, 18, appeared for a second time in Fulton superior court, where he was tried on three charges of burglary.

Found guilty by a jury, Skellett, alias R. R. Skellett, was sentenced Wednesday to three years on the chain-gang from which his mother's plea freed him last November.

Skellett was jointly indicted, arrested and tried with Deway Smith for burglary on July 13 of seven stores on the Forsyth street viaduct. Both were arrested in Birmingham shortly afterward and received the same verdict in superior court Wednesday. Judge E. D. Thomas will pass sentence today.

On May 4, 1927, Judge Virlyn B. Moore gave Skellett 12 months for automobile larceny. Some time later the judge received a letter from the prisoner's mother which enclosed a Florida newspaper clipping telling of alleged convict abuses in that state, and asked mercy for her son's case.

In November of last year Judge Moore commuted the sentence, and Probation Officer C. Allen Maddox put the youth on the tramp for Babb, more, giving him a ticket purchased with money his mother had sent.

He was next he himself was arrested by Birmingham police after the Atlanta robbery, Officer Maddox said.

Deputy Sheriff W. C. Morris Wednesday was returned to hospital suffering from serious complications arising from bullet wounds received on May 19 when he was shot during a gun battle in which Tom C. Gordon was killed by officers.

Deputy Morris was thought at the time to have been fatally wounded by a bullet from Gordon's gun. After fighting for his life for several days his condition turned for the better and he seemed well started on the road to recovery. After several weeks he was allowed to go home. Recently complications set in and he was returned to the hospital. Doctors later Wednesday night pronounced his condition serious and expressed fears that he is suffering from an abscess in the right lung.

Morris was shot in a garage on South Pryor street when he and City Detective Martin, Leathers and Sinyard were attempting to serve a pass on Gordon.

COOLIDGE CURES MAN OF CUSSING

Superior, Wis., August 29.—(Special.)—President Coolidge did something this summer in addition to fishing and resting—he cured a man of swearing.

George Babb, who has been instructing Mr. Coolidge as to dry fly fishing, an art in which he is said to be more proficient than any one else in the northwest, vouched for that statement today.

Equalling his fame as a Brule river guide, fisherman and auctioneer was Babb's reputation as a talker and user of artistic "cuss" words. Babb swore with little offense to the ear, but the words punctuated his conversation with regularity and great frequency.

It was feared that his talkativeness might irritate the president and only recently was Babb obtained to take Mr. Coolidge on the river. The president, however, appeared to like him and the trips became more frequent. "The president doesn't like to hear anyone swear," confided Babb. "It was like taking an arm off, but I quit."

Proof that he apparently had mastered the situation was Babb's last hour conversation with not one "cuss" word.

PITTSBURGH VOTE FRAUDS REVEALED

Pittsburgh, August 25.—(P)—Three women, residents of the Allegheny city, today told a United States senate subcommittee investigating William B. Wilson's contest of William S. Vare's election in 1926 as United States senator from Pennsylvania, how in September, 1927, a man had turned over to one of them an envelope containing 58 tax receipts and a number of cards reading: "Vote the republican ticket straight."

Witnesses were Miss Jane M. McKibbin, matron at the home; Miss Ada Gass, clerk of the matron, and Mrs. Kathleen Purcell, secretary to what the president of the Pittsburgh League of Women Voters and a resident of the home.

Miss McKibbin said a man giving the name of "John Kilkenny" appeared at the home with a list of the names of the 58 girls living there. After checking the names to make sure all were residents of the home "Kilkenny" left, Miss McKibbin said. Several weeks later she testified he returned and handed over to her an envelope containing the 58 tax receipts and the "vote straight" cards.

Miss McKibbin said a number of the guests at the home were not old enough to vote, but the envelope contained tax receipts for them any way.

Miss Gass and Miss Purcell corroborated Miss McKibbin's testimony. While the testimony of the three women had no direct bearing on the Vare-Wilson contest, inasmuch as the events it dealt with occurred after the 1926 election, it was presented by Wilson counsel in an effort to show alleged improper workings of what they term the "republican machine."

Jack Spalding Host to Lawyers At Barbecue at East Lake Club

Prosecuting lawyers, defending lawyers, judges and solicitors threw aside their legal trials and cares Wednesday and enjoyed a barbecue tendered them by Jack J. Spalding, at the East Lake Country club. Mr. Spalding entertained in his official capacity as president of the Atlanta Bar association and more than 300 were present. In the group picture are shown (sitting, left to right,) William Schley Howard, James T. Wright, Judge R. C. Bell, Col. J. J. Spalding and Judge W. Frank Jenkins. (Standing, left to right) Judge Jesse M. Wood, John W. Stevens, Judge Alex W. Stephens, Judge E. D. Thomas and former Governor John M. Slaton. In the top picture the hungry barristers are seen reaching avidly for the "eats."

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
Lawyers of Atlanta, some 300 strong, deserted old "corpus juris" Wednesday afternoon at East Lake Country club, swapped off "res adjudicata" and "duces tecum" for the more substantial barbecued lamb and Brunswick stew when Jack J. Spalding, president of the Atlanta Bar association, tendered the attorneys of the city a picnic luncheon.

It was an affair of double purpose, one to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of Mr. Spalding to the bar and the other to bring all "the boys" together in harmony and accord after many sessions of arguments and contentions in the courts of the land.

Supreme court judges mingled with fledglings of the bar, superior court judges smiled amiably at lawyers who were busy the day before excepting to their rulings, while grim legal warriors who battled each other before juries a few days since slapped each other on the back and repeated the latest story about the girl in the Pullman car.

Several former governors were present. "Purely social," was Mr. Spalding's description of the event and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable affairs ever attended by the Atlanta lawyers.

"Back in the old days the lawyers used to meet every Saturday afternoon and the good times we did have," Mr. Spalding said. "It occurred to me that we could get a little touch of that old social spirit and at the same time bring the boys out for a good time, so we gave this little affair."

Long tables placed on the lawn near the East Lake clubhouse were loaded with barbecued lamb, pork, beef and chicken. Huge platters overflowed with Brunswick stew, Pickle jars and salad dishes were in the proper juxtaposition and hard by in good old-fashioned kegs an amber brew flowed forth from spigots reminiscent, at least in appearance, of the good old days.

With so many lawyers together at one time it is safe to say that conversation was the order of the day. And it was. Heavy-voiced basses rumbled out in stentorian tones. Querulous little piping voices which have wrung tears from the eyes of jurymen babbled forth the latest gossip. Writs of detinue were forgotten. Garnishments received not a thought. Bail trover was conspicuous by his absence and even old "certiorari" was diplomatically shelved out of deference to the judges of the court of appeals.

Mr. Spalding was admitted to the bar January 4, 1882, at Moreauville, Ky., in the old Union circuit. He remained in this circuit for about three years and then came to Atlanta. In the long time he has lived here he has appeared before some of the most distinguished judges of the state and has appeared numerous times before the United States supreme court at Washington. He long has ranked as one of the foremost lawyers of the south and has appeared in some of the most famous legal cases recorded here in the last two score years.

G. C. ADAMS DENIES ALLIANCE IN RACES

G. C. Adams, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, is not "affiliated or allied" with any other candidate in races for state offices "but is paying his own campaign expenses and exerting all his activities to his race for the commissionership against Eugene Talmadge," he declared in a statement issued Wednesday.

"Once and for all I want to state to the people of Georgia that I am not affiliated with any other candidate in races for state offices. I am not allied or affiliated with the candidacy of any other person in any other race and that I am not representing any particular faction in the fight to give the farmers of Georgia a department of agriculture which will be of some practical use to them," he said.

"For many years it has been my desire that this state build up a department of agriculture that will truly function for the farmers. At present there are two things certain in this situation. The first is that the present department is a wrecked department and is of no practical value to the farmers. The second is that it will never become a real department as long as Eugene Talmadge remains as commissioner, if he stays on the job a hundred years."

Mr. Adams said he is interested in defeating Commissioner Talmadge because he believes "it is to the best interests of Georgia that Talmadge be defeated." He said if Talmadge is re-elected it means that it will be "two more years wasted" before the people have another chance to replace him as commissioner.

Continuing Mr. Adams said: "My record in public life has been a record of cooperation. I do not believe any one man can do it all. On the other hand my opponent has a record of individual arrogance that is an affront to every voter of the state. He does not cooperate with anyone, but on the other hand bickers, backbites, argues and fights with them. A man who can't agree with anybody at any time is a man unfit to fill any state office, commissioner of agriculture or anything else."

"DAY SCHOOL SINGER" IS PUBLISHED HERE
"The Day School Singer," an elementary primer in the study of music that also includes the words and music of many popular and sacred songs, has recently come from the press of the Charlie Tillman Song Book company. It will be used in public schools throughout Atlanta and Georgia. The book is printed in response to the recently enacted state law that Bible readings must be held daily in all schools, and contains Scripture passages for every day in the year, as well as the music.

Charlie Tillman is the compiler of the volume and author of the easy explanation of music writing which is found in the first section of the "Day School Singer." The book has the signed endorsement of M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools; Willis A. Sutton, Atlanta superintendent of schools, and J. O. Martin, state supervisor of schools. It is enthusiastically commended to the public schools by Superintendent Sutton.

RALEIGH ALTHISAR DIES IN BIRMINGHAM

News reached Atlanta Wednesday of the death Tuesday of Raleigh Althisar, advertising agent of the White Wonder Chemical company, with headquarters in Birmingham. Although spending most of his time in Birmingham, Mr. Althisar visited his family, who reside at 1442 Miller avenue, N. E., every two weeks. Mrs. Althisar was at the bedside when her husband died. Funeral arrangements have not been announced as yet.

EULA THOMPSON BARS REPORTERS

Newspaper men were barred Wednesday from further communication with Mrs. Eula Thompson, held at Fulton Tower under death sentence in the murder of Coleman Osborne, Chatsworth storekeeper.

The order was issued at request of Attorney A. S. Johnson, counsel for Mrs. Thompson. During the month since her husband's electrocution the prisoner has signed conflicting affidavits regarding the murder in Murray county last year.

On the eve of Clifford Thompson's execution, August 3, the wife declared she and an alleged lover had framed Thompson and a negro retainer, Jim Moss, who also was electrocuted.

A few days ago Mrs. Thompson laid the entire blame on Moss, who, she said, shot Osborne while she and her husband waited nearby in their automobile.

On the following day Mrs. Thompson denied this statement. She told newspaper reporters, in the presence of jail attendants, that she had signed the paper hurriedly, even before she had a chance to read its contents.

According to Attorney Johnson, Mrs. Thompson will stick to her story and affidavit when brought before the

NEW PASTOR IN FIRST SERMON HERE SUNDAY

The Rev. Ellis A. Fuller, of the First Baptist church, Chattanooga, who was called in June to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Atlanta, will arrive here Thursday or Friday to take up his regular duties in the pulpit at next Sunday morning's service. The Rev. Fuller succeeds Dr. E. M. Poteat, who has been supply pastor since January.

The new minister was formerly of the home mission board before going to Chattanooga, and has preached in Atlanta several times. After delivering the moving sermon here Sunday morning he will be honored with a welcoming service at the First Baptist church at 3 o'clock Sunday. The Rev. Poteat will preside, and several addresses of welcome will be delivered by representatives of other churches in Atlanta.

BUILDING CRASH VICTIMS BURIED

Shelby, N. C., August 20.—(AP)—Shelby county turned to burying several of the six persons killed yesterday when three buildings here collapsed and paving the way for a complete investigation of circumstances surrounding the catastrophe.

After workers who had struggled through long shifts in removing the ruins of the buildings had definitely ascertained that additional persons had not been trapped, a halt was called this afternoon.

Several of the 12 injured taken to a local hospital yesterday were released today. Only the condition of Miss Margaret Callahan and Clarence Mull, both of Shelby, remained serious, hospital attaches reported.

The latest investigation will be begun Friday under the supervision of Lieutenant Mike Austell, who was commissioned for this duty by Governor T. C. Eklridge. Miss Ora Eklridge, daughter of the coroner, was numbered among those killed when the buildings fell.

T. Robinson, of Arkansas, candidate for the vice presidency. He said they were "men of the people" and declared that "their" movements and motives are representative of the finest spirit of real Americanism.

Remedial Legislation. Advocacy of remedial legislation affecting workers by Governor Smith is beyond criticism, he said, and "capital and labor have both accepted the practicality of his ideas for the first time in America."

"I have convinced myself that I should support Governor Smith and Senator Robinson because of their leadership in temperance in America. It is my personal belief that Governor Smith is the leader of real temperance. He is doing more in the furtherance of this order than any other living man. He recognizes that we are not only confronted with a moral issue but with an economy issue and that a practical solution is necessary rather than the pursuance of an utterly impractical moral economy course as now prevails in the United States."

President Berry said Tammany hall was another step for his support of Governor Smith and he added as the last reason, his opposition to religious intolerance.

The union leader said he had only once been a candidate for an office outside of the union, and recalled his candidacy for the vice presidency nomination.

CHEERING CROWD WELCOMES SMITH

BY PAUL F. HAUPERT.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Syracuse, N. Y., August 20.—(AP)—Syracuse was a cheering crowd. Governor Smith came to Syracuse late today for his annual visit to the New York state fair and to attend the "farm dinner" given by Jerome D. Barham, publisher of the Syracuse Post Standard.

Although he was traveling in the role of chief executive of the state and intended to deliver only non-political speeches while here, admirers who greeted him showed by their ovation that they also took into account his candidacy for the presidency.

At the end of a six hour train ride from New York, the democratic nominee found a station platform cleared by a detachment of state troopers and city police. Forming a protective circle, the officers escorted him to the end of the train shed where a crowd surged in, cheering the governor and his wife.

"Three cheers for Al," yelled some one, and it was given with vigor. In the rear seat of an automobile, the governor was taken to the Onondaga hotel, his headquarters while here.

WRECKED AIRPLANE IS FOUND ON HILL

the trees in an attempt to fly under a fog.

When he returned to Port Jervis he said he was able to describe the location of the plane in its relation to a fire tower in the wood. Darkness, however, caused a postponement of further search until daylight.

Kelly said that errors in transmission were responsible for the reports from Port Jervis that he and his observer had sighted the wreck, landed not far away and fought their way through the undergrowth to the wreckage, where they found the bodies of the fliers. He said Port Jervis was the nearest place where a landing was possible and that automobile could approach only within two miles of the site.

Bodies in Wreck. Although the bodies of Merrill, head of the Curtiss flying service, and Boone, manager of the Buffalo airport, were not located, searchers said they had no doubt but that they were in the wreckage.

When the news that the plane had been broadcast it was recalled that Colonel Lindbergh, owner of the plane, had been forced down in the west in the same ship and it was reported that he put out a fire with a hand-extinguisher. The plane was sent through the undergrowth to the wreckage for repairs after that accident.

Ends Two-Day Hunt. The discovery ended a two-day search in which every available airplane and pilot in this vicinity flew back and forth across the area, which Merrill's ship was known to have passed. Headquarters were established at Ithaca, where Casey Jones, head of the Curtiss company flying service, took charge of the searchers.

State troopers of New York and Pennsylvania lent their aid, air mail pilots scanned their courses as they covered their regular routes, and even Dr. Hogen would not comment on this possibility but this morning declared the new regulations would be enforced.

The one nurse still absent, Miss Iris Hester, left for her home at Jasper, Ala., two hours before the strike was called off. No application for her reinstatement has been received, hospital officials said.

pital dormitory from 7 to 10 p. m. one night a week while under the former rules they had been permitted three nights.

The nurses also objected to the administration and the requirement that on their nights off they state where they were going, whom they were going with, what they intended to do, and at what hour they might be expected to return.

The nurses, rebuffed by the hospital staff, carried their plea before the board of revenue where they were advised to return to duty. All but one was back on duty a few days later, claiming victory because they believe there is a possibility of a compromise that would give them two nights a week out. Dr. Hogen would not comment on this possibility but this morning declared the new regulations would be enforced.

The one nurse still absent, Miss Iris Hester, left for her home at Jasper, Ala., two hours before the strike was called off. No application for her reinstatement has been received, hospital officials said.

Prominent Fliers.

Merrill was manager at Curtiss field and Boone occupied a similar post at the municipal flying field at Buffalo. They took off there Monday afternoon in the orange-colored biplane owned by Colonel Lindbergh.

The ship had been laid up for repairs at Buffalo and Merrill and Boone were to fly it to Curtiss field and there deliver it to Lindbergh.

It was a speedy ship and should have made the comparatively short flight from Buffalo in a few hours at most. When it failed to arrive Monday night some alarm was felt, but both Merrill and Boone were expert pilots, and it was believed they had negotiated a forced landing somewhere en route.

When the night passed without word from the missing men, fear for their safety increased, and yesterday the search began from both ends of the route they were to have followed.

But yesterday fog and bad flying weather hampered the search and the hunters were obliged to abandon it temporarily. Today planes were flying in fan formation across New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and three states were deeply concerned over the safety of the two fliers.

Reports of orange-colored planes observed overhead came from several points, but each was run down and established as some other ship.

Today a woman who lives not far from the spot where the biplane crashed reported some light, something that sounded like an explosion Monday night, but she did not investigate. It was thought the noise she heard was the crash of Merrill's ship.

Atlanta Girl Is Entrant In Venus de Milo Contest

MISS M'DARIS TO REPRESENT GEORGIA

Miss Doris McDaris, who will represent Georgia in the modern Venus de Milo competition to be staged in New York. This contest is to be decided by physical perfection, the winner to be the girl who is adjudged the nearest in physique to Venus de Milo, and is not a "beauty contest."

When the New Orleans-New York limited steams out of Atlanta September 3, among those on board holding a through ticket to the Pennsylvania terminal will be Miss Doris McDaris, 1208 Peachtree street. And when she returns to Atlanta a week later she hopes to be wearing the crown of Modern Venus.

Miss McDaris was chosen from among scores of Georgia girls who entered into the contest. She is slightly more than five feet, seven inches in height and weighs about 130 pounds. She is an amateur athlete of considerable reputation, being ranked among the leading women tennis players of the state and an outstanding basketball player.

Rules of the contest, which is being conducted by the McFadden Publications, Inc., provide that all entrants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 and be outstanding in their own sections as exponents of physical development. Scores of girls from Atlanta and hundreds from over the state entered in the Georgia elimination.

In giving an account of events leading up to the bankruptcy, Usher testified that Hodge had ordered him to draw the corporation's funds from the Fort Lauderdale Bank and Trust company and First National bank at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., just before the petition was filed. Hodge explained this was done to facilitate liquidation of the corporation's debts by having all money together "in one bunch."

Fete Is Staged In Rhode Island On Battle Date

Newport, R. I., August 20.—(AP)—Thousands of state, city and nation and thousands of citizens today participated in the 150th anniversary of the battle of Rhode Island, regarded as one of the most vital engagements of the revolution.

Opening with brief early morning exercises at the old revolutionary art works known as Fort Barton in Tiverton, the celebration continued throughout the day, shifting at noon to Butts' Hill in Portsmouth, then to Newport, where a military parade was held in the afternoon, and ending at Newport Beach where a banquet was planned for the evening.

The exercises at Butts' Hill included the firing of a salute by the Newport artillery company which was answered by one from the United States reserve artillery, anchored in the harbor. There were addresses by William T. Lee, Mayor of Washington, D. C., clerk of the house of representatives, Senator Ralph G. McMeekin, representing Governor Norman S. Cooke, and others.

The military parade was made up of units representing all of the military and naval forces of the city, all of the independent commands of the state and officer and the crew of the French gunboat Villa D'Artois, which was sent by the French government to participate.

Atlanta Girl Is Entrant In Venus de Milo Contest

Miss Doris McDaris, who will represent Georgia in the modern Venus de Milo competition to be staged in New York. This contest is to be decided by physical perfection, the winner to be the girl who is adjudged the nearest in physique to Venus de Milo, and is not a "beauty contest."

When the New Orleans-New York limited steams out of Atlanta September 3, among those on board holding a through ticket to the Pennsylvania terminal will be Miss Doris McDaris, 1208 Peachtree street. And when she returns to Atlanta a week later she hopes to be wearing the crown of Modern Venus.

Miss McDaris was chosen from among scores of Georgia girls who entered into the contest. She is slightly more than five feet, seven inches in height and weighs about 130 pounds. She is an amateur athlete of considerable reputation, being ranked among the leading women tennis players of the state and an outstanding basketball player.

Rules of the contest, which is being conducted by the McFadden Publications, Inc., provide that all entrants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 and be outstanding in their own sections as exponents of physical development. Scores of girls from Atlanta and hundreds from over the state entered in the Georgia elimination.

HIRAM JOHNSON LEADS IN ELECTION

San Francisco, August 20.—(AP)—Senator Hiram W. Johnson continued today to pile up an overwhelming majority for the republican senatorial nomination upon additional returns from yesterday's primary election. He will contest with Minor Moore, an attorney of Los Angeles, democrat, for the United States senatorship at the general elections in November.

With returns from 6,158 of California's 9,082 precincts, Johnson and 287,828 votes, compared with 58,445 cast for Charles H. Randall, of Los Angeles, former congressman, who opposed him for the republican nomination. Randall also received 1,534 votes of the prohibition party.

Moore, who ran alone for the democratic nomination, was given 30,502 votes from the same precincts.

Wiley J. Phillips, of Los Angeles, received 1,458 votes of the prohibition party as candidate for the senatorial nomination.

"I see that it has been denied that Hoover, as secretary of commerce, revoked the segregation of races regulations in his department. Fortunately I have all the facts concerning this matter and I will give them to the public in a few days. I was absolutely correct in my original statement that this regulation originating with President Wilson had been revoked under Secretary Hoover's administration. I would not have made the statement had I not known what I was talking about."

Harry Gordon, 14-year-old patient at Grady hospital, who for several days has been near death as the result of his refusal to eat, Wednesday voluntarily broke his fast, taking a small amount of liquid food and toast, but not as much as he should have had, according to physicians.

The boy, who is a victim of a strabismic squint, early last week refused food and by Thursday his condition was regarded as so serious that a blood transfusion was resorted to. He still continued his fast, however.

Weakened by his long abstinence from food and two other operations in addition to the blood transfusion, he has been near death since Saturday. Monday he told reporters that

WIFE SUES HEAD OF NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CONCERN.

Dayton, Ohio, August 20.—(AP)—Charging gross neglect of duty and cruelty, Mrs. Evelyn Patterson filed suit for divorce and alimony in common pleas court from Frederick B. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register company. No elaboration of the charges filed is made in the petition, which is one of the briefest on record here. She stated they were married in Dayton, January 3, 1917 and that since they have adopted two children, Frederick B. and Evelyn two.

LATVIA OFFICIALS SUPPRESS PARTIES

Riga, Latvia, August 20.—(AP)—Acting under the instructions of the ministry of the interior, the police have suppressed the independent socialist and communist party which proclaimed a general strike on August 22 during which there was some rioting in the capital. The court of appeal will be called upon to decide whether the ministerial action is legal and can be upheld.

WE'LL HAVE plenty of telephones in the new home

ONE thing is certain—this business of running a marathon from one part of the house to another, every time the telephone rings is out of date. I've arranged with the telephone company to install a telephone in the living room, one in the kitchen, and another in our bedroom. Then, too, there will be outlets in the bathroom, guest room, and dining room so we can plug-in a portable telephone. How's that for getting convenience down to a science?

"It's a perfectly great idea. But it sounds fearfully expensive."

"But it's not, you see. The added cost amounts to only a few cents a day—a small price to pay for the utmost in convenience."

Before you buy or build a home confer with us regarding adequate telephone facilities. Full information will be gladly furnished you by the Business Office, or any telephone employee.

STATE OF GEORGIA—COUNTY

FORT RAPS RIVERS' PLATFORM VIEWS

Cummins, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Contrasting the record of State Senator E. D. Rivers and that of Governor L. G. Hardman as legislator and governor, respectively, T. Hicks Fort, one of the campaign leaders for the chief executive, praised Hardman's record and sharply assailed that of his opponent in an address before a large audience on the courthouse grounds.

In addition to the previous points brought out by Mr. Fort in his addresses in other counties, he drew what he termed was "the deadly parallel" between Mr. Rivers' platform and what he now advocates, and his record as disclosed by his votes while a member of the house and of the senate of Georgia. He took up Mr. Rivers' platform, plank by plank, and drew the contrast as follows:

"First: He promised to reduce departments and cut off useless help; he cited Mr. Rivers' vote in 1925 to retain the 192 oil inspectors instead of reducing them to six.

"Second: As to his campaign promises to assist the old soldiers, Mr. Fort showed that when a proposition was made to issue scrip to take care of the amount appropriated to the old soldiers Mr. Rivers' vote is recorded against that proposal.

"Third: As to Mr. Rivers' protestations of being a friend of the common schools, Mr. Fort cited his vote against the bill to furnish free school books to the children of Georgia, and thereby demonstrated how he favored the book trusts instead of the interests of the common people.

"Fourth: As to Mr. Rivers' profession of being the farmers' friend, he showed Mr. Rivers' vote on the 'self-rising flour' bill and demonstrated how he voted in favor of the baker's powder trusts and the hard wheat millers as against the interest of the Georgia farmer who raises only soft wheat. Again on this same point he showed that Mr. Rivers advocated and put through a bill in the senate which legalized bucket-shops in Georgia and enabled the cotton gambler to fix the price on the farmers' product before the crop was even planted, and how that when this bill was understood and explained by President Barrett, of the Farmers' Union, the lower house, of which Mr. Rivers was not a member, killed the bill.

"Fifth: As to Mr. Rivers' proposition to put the state on a sound banking basis, Mr. Fort cited Mr. Rivers' vote in the senate opposing an investigation of the banks and the methods used in liquidating the hundred and odd banks which has gone bankrupt in Georgia and showed by the official report of the banking department that at that time Mr. Rivers had in his pocket nearly one-sixth of the capital stock of a little bank at Adel, Ga., capitalized at $25,000, Mr. Rivers having drawn out of this bank over $3,000 in fees for representing himself as liquidating agent for which services as liquidating agent he drew over $800.

"Sixth: As to Mr. Rivers' proposition to put the state on a sound financial basis and to operate its affairs for the benefit of the people, Mr. Fort cited his record when he voted in favor of leasing the Western & Atlantic Railway, the state's largest property, for a period of 50 years after the present lease—which is to run 41 years—expired, and demonstrated that by this arrangement only one possible bidder would figure in the leasing of the road for this additional time.

"Seventh: As to Mr. Rivers' proposition to reorganize departments, particularly the highway department, Mr. Fort demonstrated by Mr. Rivers' record in the senate, where he was floor leader, that he led the bloc which has kept Holder, the present chairman, in his position, and Mr. Fort here took up in detail the statement published in Sunday's press showing that the highway commissioner never had constructed a single cross-state road, although it had spent upwards of $100,000,000, it was now over $35,000,000 in debt, and he further contended that if this highway department were a private business concern, it could and would be adjudicated a bankrupt in the federal court and a receiver or receivers put in charge of its affairs to run them on a sounder and more business-like basis. And he drew the parallel between the national deficit as carried in today's press of about $84,000,000 and showed that one department in the state of Georgia, to-wit, the highway department, was indebted over one-third of the deficit shown throughout the entire nation.

"Mr. Fort confidently predicted the reelection of Governor Hardman and the defeat of Mr. Rivers as another rebuke to ring rule and machine politicians in Georgia."

COMMUNITY CHEST COMPLETES MOVE TO NEW QUARTERS

Removal of offices of the Atlanta Community Chest from 283 1-2 Peachtree street to the seventh floor of the Candler annex, 74 Pryor street, N. E., was completed yesterday afternoon.

The change of quarters gives the organization a compact and more easily accessible location, with a number of advantages looking before, according to Frank Miller, executive director of the chest, and also effects a saving in line with the policy of more economical administration announced as one of the principal objectives of the recent reorganization.

The Community Employment service and the Georgia Children's Home society, two agencies of the chest which occupied quarters at 283 1-2 Peachtree street, also have moved to the Candler annex.

MISS CALLIE COOK TO STUDY CERAMIC ART IN CHICAGO, ILL.

Milledgeville, Ga., August 29.—Miss Callie Cook, well-known art teacher and head of the Art department at Wesleyan college, who has been spending the summer at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. A. Cook here, where she conducted an art school, left Milledgeville this week for Chicago where she will spend the next several weeks studying ceramic art there.

Miss Cook is widely known as a talented artist, and students from many states attend her picturesque art school "Chickadee" which she holds during the summer months at the beautiful old Colonial home of the Cook's near Milledgeville.

LEVINE, ACOSTA CUT SHORT TEST TRIP AT CROYDON

London, August 29.—(AP)—Charles A. Levine and Bert Acosta, who took off in Levine's new plane, "Queen of the Air," on a test flight to France this morning, cut the flight short and returned to Croydon early this afternoon.

USE OF DAY LABOR IN ARMY PROJECTS PROTESTED HERE

Vigorous protests of the custom of the war department to perform government work with day labor instead of by contract was made Wednesday by the Georgia chapter, Associated General Contractors of America, Inc.

Resolutions passed by the Georgia body were filed with Secretary of War Dwight Davis, and letters urging the Georgia delegation at the national capital to vote for and support the proposal of Representative Guy E. Campbell, of Pennsylvania, also were distributed. A special communication was forwarded to Senator Walter F. George. The Campbell paper is designed to have governmental work done by contract.

The resolutions which were sent to Mr. Davis declare that day labor work is more expensive, less dependable and not as high type as contract work done by reputable firms. They were signed by 20 members of the local and were forwarded by Hugh Roberts, secretary.

James Williams and Lawrence Lewis, both negroes, received five-year sentences Wednesday, despite the defense plea of pretty Miss Mary Tennenbaum, attorney appointed for the defendants by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, in Fulton superior court. James Evans, also colored, jointly indicted with Williams and Lewis in the robbery of an East Point store, elected to plead guilty, escaping with the lesser penalty of three years.

WOMAN ATTORNEY FAILS IN APPEAL FOR 2 PRISONERS

After Miss Tennenbaum had addressed the jury in behalf of Williams and Lawrence, Assistant Solicitor John Hudson, who prosecuted the case, told the court that in his opinion Miss Tennenbaum had offered one of the "fairest pleas" in behalf of a prisoner he had ever heard.

Commissioners sue for loss of bridge. Bainbridge, Ga., August 29.—Suits have been filed in city court by Deatur county commissioners against the Georgia Power and Light company for $10,657.67 when the company refused to settle for that amount in the claim of the commissioners on the destruction of the iron bridge at Spring creek where it is said the impounded waters of the dam swept the bridge away in April. The bridge built in 1892 had withstood much higher waters before the dam was started in 1919, the claim said.

ALL CUBAN PLANES ORDERED TO LAND AT 3 IN AFTERNOON

Havana, August 29.—(AP)—All aviation activities over Havana province after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, except for planes carrying government mail, will cease today under government orders prohibiting the departure or landing of the planes after that hour. General Alberto Herrera, chief of the general staff, explained that the ruling was a precautionary one. "The province is the most densely populated region on the island," he said. "It contains the residences of all the high political dignitaries of the republic."

WRIGHT'S STATEMENT.

Congressman W. C. Wright, of the fourth Georgia district, thoughtfully and thoroughly covers the situation in regard to the necessity, at this time, of every democrat holding firm his party allegiance, in a statement published elsewhere in this edition of The Constitution.

As he states, it seems almost superfluous for any man who has served five terms in congress and has again his district nomination for that office, to declare he is "still an organized democrat and will vote for and support the democratic nominees." Yet, superfluous as it may appear, there are some so-called "democrats" in Georgia today who would do well to read Congressman Wright's splendid enunciation of principle, with careful analysis and serious thought.

Congressman Wright, a staunch prohibitionist, points out that the president, under our constitution, has nothing to do with enactment of laws, but only with their enforcement. He recalls how Governor Smith has repeatedly pledged himself to rigid law enforcement, with out evasion or reservation. "His record as governor of New York would seem the best evidence of the sincerity of this pledge," says Mr. Wright.

He further points to the ridiculously unsatisfactory stand on the prohibition issue taken in the republican platform. That document, he points out, merely announced support for the 18th amendment, but said nothing about the enforcement of laws passed under the amendment. As for the republican nominee, Mr. Hoover, Congressman Wright declares he has failed to say anything about prohibition, except that "it is a noble experiment." Which is less than nothing.

On every issue in the campaign, prohibition, religious freedom, tariff, farm relief, etc., Governor Smith has stood firmly for the highest principles of the democratic party, and Congressman Wright declares, "I would not insult the intelligence or impugn the loyalty of my constituents in the fourth district, by surmising that they will act, in the present contest, other than to be true to the democratic party."

As they have in every national campaign since the dark days of reconstruction!

FROM LODGE'S DAUGHTER.

"To date no one knows what Mr. Hoover really thinks about any important subject."

This statement is from a letter written by the daughter of the late United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, for more than a decade the senate leader of the republican party—a man typical of the republican viewpoint, a rock-ribbed follower of the republican faith.

Constance Williams, his daughter, writing to a republican newspaper, the Boston Herald, declares that Governor Smith, in his speech accepting the democratic nomination, gave every hearer something to "chew on."

As a republican, Mrs. Williams says "with a great deal of his speech I do not and cannot agree," adding, "but I know what he means."

She points this opinion with the added comment that "to date no one knows what Mr. Hoover really thinks about any important subject."

Mrs. Williams is right in her comparison of the two candidates. The very fact that she is a staunch republican adds to the strength of the contrast she draws.

Never, in the history of national political campaigns, has there been a candidate of whom the people know so little—in regard to the vital question of his views of all issues of the campaign—as Herbert Hoover. Undoubtedly he is a good citizen, and a great engineer. But it takes something more than these qualities to be a leader of a great nation. It takes the power of character to possess beliefs and to stand up for them.

Seven years ago, by his own admission, Mr. Hoover did not know himself whether he was, politically a republican or a democrat. That fact is typical of his attitude today. From his spoken word and from his written discussions, it is impossible to gain one definite statement on any vital subject.

He veers to every gentle breeze of public opinion that blows, seeking to trim his campaign sails to catch every vagrant vote he can, irrespective of his own convictions—if he has any. He carefully refrains from taking a definite stand on debatable subjects. He deals in generalities and platitudes, carefully balancing his political toes upon the top rail of the fence, afraid alike of committing himself to the meadows of reaction or the highway of constructive leadership.

On the other hand, as Mrs. Williams, the republican, points out: "You may not agree with Governor Smith, but at least you know why; whereas, with Mr. Hoover, you don't know whether you agree with him or not, because you don't know what he thinks."

IRREFUTABLE FACTS.

North Carolina, in 1921, decided to float a state bond issue for the prompt construction of a great system of state highways. Today that system is the admiration of the nation. Today those highways are paying for themselves and, in addition, providing the income to build from 300 to 500 additional miles of paved road annually.

This wonderful condition is succinctly set forth in the issue of August 23 of the Manufacturers Record. In a letter from Frank Page, chairman of the North Carolina state highway commission, the vital facts are briefly and strikingly set forth. Extracts from this letter, together with the comment of the Manufacturers Record, are given elsewhere on this page.

It is a remarkable document, refuting completely all arguments against the wisdom of financing state roads by state bonds. The Tarheel state may justly take pride in the facts as set forth.

Practically $135,000,000 in bonds has been floated for this purpose.

The state highway system of 7,480 miles is complete, with more than half paved and the remainder so improved and surfaced as to be entirely suitable—in all weathers—for the traffic they are called on to carry.

Good roads have increased traffic. More automobiles have required more licenses and old and new cars have used more gasoline. The license fee revenues and the gasoline tax have been dedicated to paying interest on, and retiring, the road bonds.

The increased revenue, Mr. Page declares, not only does all this, but also provides more than enough to operate the highway commission, to maintain all the roads in the system and leave from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 clear each year for new road construction.

And the revenue is increasing every year.

Such a record is irrefutable and convincing. It leaves no room for debate. It points the way, without room for disagreement, to the only paying method of building a road system.

As the Manufacturers Record points out, however, there are other immeasurable benefits to the state and its people which Mr. Page has refrained from indicating.

Not the least of these is the increase in property values. Farm lands in North Carolina are selling today at $500 per acre, compared to lands of greater productivity in Georgia which bring only $30 per acre upon the market. The difference in valuation is due to one factor and one factor only: The North Carolina farmer has the roads to carry his products to market and to link himself and his family with the outside world, whereas the Georgia farmer is isolated from the world by mud, for long periods each year.

In addition to all these benefits, the roads of Carolina have attracted the attention of the world, have lured untold thousands of tourists to that state—all of whom have daily spent many dollars in the state—have brought many valuable new citizens to settle within the state borders and have, in every way, speeded up the material and educational development of the state in an ever gaining ratio of momentum.

There can be no more argument against such a road financing system than there can be against the value of thrift for an individual.

This year sees a new party in the field: the national interracial independent political. That about completes the assortment.

Perpetual motion has been solved by the climbing on the democratic bandwagon.

So far none of the presidential candidates has declined to accept the nomination.

When a man gets bigger than his party he naturally has to explode.

Idn Saoud

Again.

Negotiations with Ibn Saoud, the Arab chieftain have broken down. The desert king resumes his liberty of action. And consequently London and Bagdad have reason to fear a frontier attack in Iraq. From dispatches to London papers an idea may be gained as to Ibn Saoud's demands and manner of reasoning. He wanted nothing less than a revision of the whole Arabistan question, including Palestine. He had to be satisfied with the same, religion and language. From Damascus to Bagdad there should be no frontier. From Bagdad to Jeddah, from Medina to Haifa, there should be no frontier. The considerations which produced the frontiers, France's demand for a mandate, Lord Balfour's promises to the Jews, the imaginary necessity of providing for the sons of Hussein, were ephemeral and highly illusory, as the past ten years have shown. Any single, courageous solution would have been preferable to this series of compromises, which can never give anything but trouble and confusion to Asia Minor.

Crucified Fraud.

Germany offers a daily crop of thrilling and amusing events. Some recent affairs have been of unusual interest, for instance this entirely novel wrinkle. There was the man found nailed to a cross laid across the seats in a first-class compartment of a railway train. A suburban passenger found this tragic company, entered the train, and found the man nailed to a cross. Unable to obtain any sign of life from the victim, the passenger notified the authorities as soon as the train reached the station. It was decided to saw the cross from the man, that he might be taken to a hospital. Thereupon he lifted his head, and moved the nails from his other hand and feet, and stood up. Then he explained that he was merely seeking publicity. He had tubes nailed to his back, and had made in his feet and hands. The nails were driven through these tubes. The head of one nail had been removed so that he could life that hand. (He got the publicity.)

See Naples!

Signor Domenico Rolando and his good wife, who live at Portici, Naples, have received an autographed letter from Signor Mussolini and his congratulations. This happy pair has no fewer than nineteen children, all living and in good health. The family dwells in the garden in summer and in a covered terrace in the winter, for the dining room has grown too small for its enormous pots and pans would make many a restaurant keeper envious; the fare, though abundant, is of the simplest kind, for Signor Rolando has to provide two square meals and a light breakfast with a comfortable but not large income. Macaroni, bolognaise, salad with olive oil, bread, are the chief articles of food. At bed-time Signor Rolando has his roll call, to which every child responds. When a pleasure trip is planned, or the family invited to a christening, wedding or birthday party, this is the family goes to the Neapolitan street car company and hires a car for the purpose. "Nor does he look to the future with anxiety," says his wife, "he told a cabinet minister, who was on his way to the president, 'My youngest, a girl, is only four years old. We have plenty of time.'"

Senator Lodge's Daughter Compares Smith, Hoover To the Latter's Detriment

(From the Boston Herald.)
To the Editor of The Herald: I read the editorial in The Herald this morning on Governor Smith's speech of acceptance with something approaching disquiet. You may not realize that what largely constitutes the democratic candidate's strength is his willingness to give people something concrete to think over and to fight for. After listening to Mr. Smith's speech over the radio last evening, I was obvious to me that everyone who is in reach of his voice has been provided with something to "chew on."

What his great deal of his speech I do not and cannot agree, any more than you do; and, of course, much of it is in conflict with my principles as a republican; but I do know what he means.

But to date no one knows what Mr. Hoover really thinks about any important subject. He deals in generalities and Governor Smith deals with facts. You may not agree with the governor but at least you know what he means. Mr. Hoover you don't know whether you agree with him or not because you don't know what he thinks.

No one ever gained anything worth having, in politics or anywhere else, who persistently refused to look the facts in the face. If the republican party is beaten in November it will be because it sidestepped the issues and refused to face the music.

The World and All

BY CHARLES R. DRISCOLL.

It seems that Mr. Lowenstein, who dropped out of his airplane into the English channel, had just suffered losses amounting to $500,000,000. The couple with the known fact that no body could have dropped through the door by accident, seems to verify the theory of suicide.

A man might easily lose his head and jump to death after the loss of $500,000,000. Lowenstein probably felt that he was ruined. He had only $400,000,000 left to his name!

It was you will admit, a desperate plight. It was you will admit, a desperate plight. It was you will admit, a desperate plight.

But I realize that a great deal depends upon one's point of view. A man who has been living on a hundred-million scale probably actually feels that he faces ruin when he is reduced to forty millions.

You often hear that a person who has a comfortable income lives just as well as the richest man in the world, since the richest man can live only one day at a time and cannot eat more than three or four meals. Well, maybe the man of moderate means lives just as well as Lowenstein did, but he certainly doesn't live as expensively.

A State's Highway Investment That Is More Than Paying for Itself

(From the Manufacturers Record.)

When North Carolina commenced a few years ago a great highway building campaign many skeptics "viewed with alarm" the enormous expenditures involved. Others took the ground that it would be one of the greatest investments the people of the state ever made, and such is proving the wisdom of the decision.

In a letter to the Manufacturers Record, Frank Page, chairman of the North Carolina state highway commission says:

North Carolina has made an investment of practically $135,000,000 in a highway system. It has been financed by capitalization of the automobile fees and the gas tax. Our state highway system composed of 7,480 miles and has practically all been improved. More than one-half of it has been paved, and the other half has been graded, drained, and a temporary surface put on the roads, that they are serviceable for the traffic that now uses them 365 days in the year.

"The revenue derived from automobile fees and gas tax, because we have furnished a road system, has very rapidly increased in North Carolina. We, therefore, find ourselves in the fortunate position at this time of having an income sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds maturing year to year, to set aside a substantial sinking fund to pay bonds in the future, to pay all interest charges, the operation of the highway commission, the maintenance charges, and having a sum of money estimated from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 per year for the construction of new highways.

"I believe that this condition thoroughly justifies the position taken by North Carolina in 1921—that it was the best course to issue bonds and build a state highway system that we could use while it was being paid for."

Chairman Page might also have cited the millions added to property values as a result of the good roads development. He might have called attention to the nation's interest in North Carolina's highway system and the manner in which it has attracted tourists and prospective settlers and of the part good roads have played in speeding up the material and educational development of the state.

The republican platform simply announced the enforcement of the 18th amendment, but not the enforcement laws passed thereunder, and its candidate has failed to give any pronounced or well-defined views on this subject, except to say "it is a noble experiment."

The republican platform simply announced the enforcement of the 18th amendment, but not the enforcement laws passed thereunder, and its candidate has failed to give any pronounced or well-defined views on this subject, except to say "it is a noble experiment."

Certainly the enforcement of the prohibition laws under Governor Smith's administration could be no more imperfect or lax than under the last two republican administrations whose official, Andrew J. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and charged with the administration and enforcement of these laws is not in sympathy with them and is himself the largest holder of brewery and distillery stocks and securities in the United States.

Hoover Two-Sided.
It should not be overlooked that Mr. Hoover appears to be a two-sided man. He has been in the past rather announced a change, on practically every important public question on which he has undertaken to express himself since his return to the United States. He has spent, perhaps, more than half of his adult life abroad, where he, no doubt, became imbued with the republican party sentiments, and upon his return he did not seem to know just what his attitude on public questions should be.

It should not be overlooked also that Mr. Hoover has been a part and parcel of the republican administration for more than seven years, and his voice has never been raised in protest of the lax manner in which the prohibition laws were being enforced or demanded they be better enforced.

The democratic party has always, and still stands for economy and honesty in government and abhors special privileges, graft and corruption, and still adheres to the principles laid down by Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson, which the republican party has a long record of graft, dishonesty, bribery, corruption, and the favoring of special interests dating back to its very organization and many of whose high public officials have been re-elected in their duties and violated, for personal greed, the trusts reposed in them, and driven from office.

This is especially true of the last two republican administrations during which the corruption, conspiracy and fraud unearthed by the democratic minority have been a stench in the nostrils of all decent, honest people, and the republican party, Mr. Hoover, its present leader, and the last two administrations to which he was a party, federal patronage in Georgia has been a scandal.

It has been urged that Governor Smith is a Catholic. I am a Baptist and could never be a Catholic, but I realize that the same constitution and laws which permit me to be a Baptist, and worship my Maker according to the dictates of my own conscience, permit Governor Smith to be a Catholic.

It is to be regretted that this question of religion has been raised in the campaign. It strikes right at the very foundation of one of the most sacred principles on which our government was founded, and it is a sufficient to justify any fear that the administration and enforcement of the prohibition laws would thereby be jeopardized. In addition, these appointments, by long custom, are regarded as "Senatorial Patronage" and are accorded the same respect as the senators of his party, in the state in which the judge is to hold office.

Under an inalienable right to worship God, each according to the dictates of his own conscience, and no human authority should in any case control or interfere with such freedom of belief.

Again it declares "No inhabitant of this state shall be molested in person or property, or prohibited from holding public office or trust, on account of his religious opinions."

Not only have these provisions been regarded as fundamental and sacred, but we Protestants have always vigorously insisted that church and state should be separate.

BUILDING AND LOAN LEAGUE ORGANIZED

The Atlanta Building and Loan League was formally organized, officers were elected and by-laws approved, at a meeting of representatives from several building and loan associations Wednesday noon in the Chamber of Commerce building.

C. A. Matthews, of the Decatur Building and Loan association, was chosen as first president of the league, which has as its purpose "the stimulating and developing of building and loan associations in Atlanta, Decatur and vicinity."

H. C. Russell, of the First Mutual Building and Loan association, was elected vice president and Edgar Watkins, Jr., was named secretary for the new organization.

Following the organization speeches were made by the newly-elected president, Mr. Matthews, and the vice president, Mr. Russell, George West and John H. Tait.

In accepting the presidency Mr. Matthews stressed the importance of the work done by building and loan associations in "the development of the thrift and the fostering of home ownership."

Mr. Russell explained reasons for the exemption from certain forms of taxation, extended to building and loan associations by the state and federal government, pointing out that "building and loan associations are building citizens and creating taxable property and ought not themselves to be taxed."

Mr. West and Mr. Tait discussed the phenomenal growth and development of building and loan associations in recent years.

The league is arranging for the entertainment of George McKinnis, president of the Shawnee Building and Loan association, of Oklahoma, past president of the National Building and Loan league, when he visits Atlanta late in November. Acting as a special committee to entertain him are Mr. Tait, Gerald Goodman and Harry Steele.

Charter members of the league are the Columbia Building and Loan association, Standard Building and Loan association, First Mutual Building and Loan association, First National Building and Loan association, and the Atlanta Building and Loan association, all of Atlanta, and the Decatur Building and Loan association, of that city.

JAYCEES TO HEAR HARDMAN ADDRESS AT LUNCH TODAY

Governor L. G. Hardman will speak Thursday afternoon at the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce. His topic will be "Resources and Possible Development of Georgia." The meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce assembly hall, with A. W. Bohm, president.

A musical program will be presented by Miss Nora Allen, soprano, accompanied by Signor E. Volpi, pianist. Miss Mary Louise Blanchard will give several dance numbers, including an oriental dance.

FERTILIZER MEETING AT DAWSON PLANNED

Dawson, Ga., August 29.—(Special).—The cotton committee of the Terrell county agricultural board will hold a fertilizer meeting next Tuesday. The demonstration farms of C. P. Johnston, J. P. Perry, J. W. Bridges and W. K. Pace will be visited and the results will be studied. County Agent Gibson, who will be in charge of the program, states that he has invited the county agents throughout southwest Georgia to spend the day in Terrell county and bring with them a large number of farmers from their respective counties.

The Perry and Johnston tests have been conducted on the same plots the past three years and this year will draw to a close the undertaking connected with these tests. The main purpose of these tests, which include 24 different plots, has been to determine the most economical and effective source of ammonia for growing cotton. A potash and side dresser test has also been included in these experiments. The results the past two years have clearly demonstrated that reasonable application of potash are important if the maximum results are to be obtained from the use of commercial fertilizers.

The committee extends an invitation to the farmers and business men of Terrell and other neighboring counties to attend this meeting, and he has their guests at a barbecue luncheon at the noon hour.

The fertilizer work which has been done the past three years in Terrell county by the cotton committee has created interest throughout both Georgia and Alabama, and it is expected that the next Tuesday will be a most interesting one to all who attend.

Among the speakers who have been invited to the meeting are Dr. John R. Fain, of the agronomy division of the Georgia State College of Agriculture; Professor George R. Crab, of the same institution; Dr. J. N. Harper, of the Potash Importers; Professors T. L. Wilkerson, of the American Yarns company; T. H. Bonner, of the Chilesen nitrate educational bureau; George Suggs, of the sulphate of ammonia educational bureau; and H. P. Stuckey, director of the Georgia Experimental station, at Griffin.

BOND CASE DECIDED BY COURT OF APPEALS

A verdict of $3,016 representing the balance on the purchase price of an issue of bonds sold by the city of Athens, Ga., to the National City Company of New York in April of 1925 was upheld in the court of appeals today on the grounds that the plaintiff was not negligent in failing to cash a check for that amount on a bank which failed while the defendant company was investigating the legality of the municipal issue in question.

The appellate court held that the city of Athens held the check as trustee to protect the rights of both the defendant company and itself, and was not authorized to use the funds, which it held merely as a guarantee of the defendant's good faith. The National City company was subsequently determined to be the successful bidder, offering a price of $30,250 and accrued interest for the issue. The check given to cover good faith was held without effort of the city of Athens to cash it until the company had won the bid, the decision said.

A suit against the National Bank of Athens to recover the sum was upheld in a lower court and the defendant company was investigating the legality of the municipal issue in question.

HUGE CROWD PLANS TO HEAR ROBINSON SPEAK AT DALLAS

Dallas, Tex., August 29.—(P)—Nineteen special trains and three bus caravans have been chartered by Texans who will come here Labor day to hear Senator Joseph T. Robinson make his first campaign speech.

The address will be a feature of the annual Labor day celebration at the state fair grounds.

Most of the special trains were chartered by labor organizations.

Sandersville, Ga., August 29.—(P)—A central church will hold their annual convention at Oxford Memorial church, near Milledgeville, Wednesday, September 5. A full day's program has been made up and a large attendance is expected.

Oxford Memorial church is located in Hardwick and was named for Miss Oxford, who was slain by a colored inmate of the state sanitarium a few years ago.

MIDDLE GEORGIA FAIR TO OBSERVE SCHOOLDAY

Milledgeville, Ga., August 29.—Tuesday, October 2, has been officially designated as "School day" at the Middle Georgia Fair which will be held here that week. The announcement was made by President B. H. Dunaway here this week following a meeting of the directors Tuesday night.

Baldwin county schools will open September 12 and schools of surrounding counties at about that time. Teachers and pupils will begin immediately to plan their school exhibits, and the float which will be entered from every school in this section. A prize will be awarded the prettiest float to enter this contest. The officers of the fair association are B. H. Dunaway, president; F. W. Hendrickson, vice president; C. B. McCullar, secretary; J. T. King, treasurer; E. A. Nesmith, assistant secretary, and the following directors: W. E. Ireland, E. E. Bell, T. B. Dumas, J. H. Ennis, Marion W. Stenwig, M. W. Watkins, J. R. Torrance and W. J. Chandler.

RIVERS IS ASKED QUESTIONS AGAIN

Repeating six questions concerning the official record of State Senator E. D. Rivers, opponent of Governor L. G. Hardman in the race for governor, the Hardman campaign headquarters issued a statement Wednesday calling on the senator to answer these questions.

"We maintain that these are all legitimate questions based on Senator Rivers' official record," it was stated by the Hardman headquarters.

Referring to the questions the statement said:

"In recent widely published statements, Mr. Rivers has begged off from replying to any of these six questions on the plea that he hasn't the money to pay for the advertising necessary to answer them in the state press."

"A glance at the newspapers of Georgia shows that they are exceedingly generous in giving Mr. Rivers and his campaign managers an ever free space they ask for his charges against the Hardman administration and his promises for the future, to which we can offer no objection."

"Surely, the same newspapers would be equally generous in printing Candidate Rivers' answers to the six questions we have asked him so repeatedly. His replies are eagerly awaited by the voters, and we can imagine nothing that Mr. Rivers could say that would be read with more intense interest."

"Mr. Rivers surely must know why he took certain positions on certain bills, and whether he feels the same way about them when running for governor as he did when he was helping make or block legislation. We feel sure the public would like to know the motives that inspired his votes, as shown in the record of house and senate."

"The six questions addressed to Mr. Rivers concerned his vigorous opposition to the resolution calling for an investigation of the cost of liquidating default banks; his vote against the bill to reduce the number of oil inspectors; his support of the 'self-rising flour' bill, which would have forced housewives to pay patent baking powder at an increased expense for baking; his leadership of the attempt to fast upon Georgia a law legalizing bucket shop gambling on cotton; the true source of the Rivers campaign fund, and his attempt to have the state release the Western and Atlantic railway for 50 years, after the expiration of the present lease which has 41 years to run."

"HOOVER BULLETIN," CAMPAIGN ORGAN, IS ISSUED HERE

The first issue of the "Hoover Bulletin of Georgia," official organ of the Hoover-Curtis campaign committee for Georgia, was issued Wednesday at committee headquarters, 70 North Forsyth street, Tait, secretary of the committee, said.

The eight-page paper carries in the editorial page "manhood" the names of H. G. Hastings as chairman of the committee and Albert S. Anderson, Jr., as executive secretary. Guy Guthrie is editor and publisher.

The organ is described as a "new bulletin for all individuals and groups working for the election of Herbert Hoover to the presidency of the United States." It will be published weekly.

The most striking feature of the first issue is the recent interpretation of the state democratic executive committee, of the democratic primary election by G. E. Maddox, chairman of the committee, showing the experience of Christ as a carpenter. The publication is the official organ of the Salvation army.

A reproduction of the famous painting, "The Shadow of the Cross," by Holman Hunt forms the front cover of the number, showing the Saviour in His carpenter's shop. General William Booth's open letter to Salvationists on "work," a widely quoted glorification of labor, is a feature.

The issue also carries a detailed account of the death of Captain Paul Rader, Salvation army officer, nephew of Rev. Luke Rader, a former Atlanta pastor, who was killed by lightning while rescuing children caught in a storm at a Salvation army camp in Massachusetts.

GEORGIANS TO SEE ROBINSON NOTIFIED

Prominent democratic leaders of Georgia formed a party Wednesday night bound for Hot Springs, Ark., to attend the formal exercises surrounding the notification of United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson that he is the democratic vice presidential nominee. The party was headed by United States Senators William J. Harris and Walter F. George. They will be present at the notification ceremony to be held at Hot Springs Thursday night.

Departure of this party and a statement issued by Sam A. Cawson, Savannah, president of the Young Men's Democratic league, in which he called on all loyal democrats in Georgia to rally to the party banner in organizing democratic clubs throughout the state and in support of the national nominees were two outstanding developments at the state campaign headquarters, according to John R. Slater, manager of the campaign.

Among other prominent democrats in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Slater, G. E. Maddox, Major John S. Cohen, Mrs. Edgar Alexander, Mr. Cawson and Frank M. Berry.

Mr. Cawson's statement is as follows: "The organization of the Young Men's Democratic league of Georgia has met with the most enthusiastic response over the entire state, and a thorough canvass of the county organizations shows that the smoke screen propaganda thrown out by the republican party in the name of Hoover-democrats and republicans who have been sailing under the mask of democracy, is gradually being lifted, and the real democrats of Georgia are appreciating the wonderful character and sterling accomplishments of the democratic national nominees."

"The democratic over the state now understand that Hoover and republicanism are synonymous, and that a vote for Hoover will be a vote for the party that was conceived of hatred for the south; a party nurtured on antagonisms to the finest conditions of southern politics as illustrated by the abolition without recompense; the party of the civil war; the party of reconstruction which endeavored to grind the white race of the south under the heels of their former slaves; a party that believes in negro control of southern politics as illustrated by the national executive committee and woman from the state of Georgia, through whom a Hoover voter would have to speak in order to be heard in its national councils; a party that has been held together since days of reconstruction by the cohesion of the influence of public plunder, and a party whose nominees were recently selected largely by the influence of Illinois gangsters. Vile corruptionists and negro mercenaries from the south."

"We are sounding the call for all loyal democrats to rally to the flag of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson, in order that the ideals and principles for which they stood might be preserved and the battle flag of Georgia democracy will still rest on the heights of victory where it has flown since the war between the states."

LABOR DAY EDITION ISSUED BY ORGAN OF SALVATION ARMY

A Labor day number of the southern territorial edition of THE WAR CRY, published in Atlanta, will be placed on distribution throughout the south today, with articles and illustrations stressing the early experience of Christ as a carpenter. The publication is the official organ of the Salvation army.

A reproduction of the famous painting, "The Shadow of the Cross," by Holman Hunt forms the front cover of the number, showing the Saviour in His carpenter's shop. General William Booth's open letter to Salvationists on "work," a widely quoted glorification of labor, is a feature.

REMOVE MAKE-UP with PALM and OLIVE OILS

The surest way to combat coarse skin, blemishes, blackheads. These beauty oils embodied in a true complexion soap

HERE is a way to make washing your face an actual beauty treatment. Women are amazed at the softness of their skin, by the fine texture of their pores, as a result of this complexion habit.

If the skin is regularly cleansed each day—if make-up and grime are thoroughly removed—natural charm results. The most effective means to do this, in gentle safety to the skin, is by daily use of Palmolive Soap.

Its rich, luxurious lather embodies two famed beauty oils—the oil of olive and the oil of palm. They gently penetrate and cleanse the pores when applied in the following way and keep your skin radiantly clear, gloriously soft and charming. Each night wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive. With your two hands massage the magic lather of its oils into your pores, cleansing them thoroughly. Then rinse, first with warm, then cold, water. Dry by gently patting with a soft towel. Add a little cold cream for dryness, perhaps, but that is all.

Remember—always remove make-up before you sleep. If left on it dries skin, fills pores and brings unsightly blemishes and blackheads. Always use Palmolive. It's a cake, everywhere. Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, Ill.

Chevrolet's Regional Sales Chief Host to Company's Prize Salesmen

Here's the cream of Chevrolet's southeastern sales forces at play as guests of L. S. Costley, regional sales manager here. The "72 Club" Wednesday was snapped at a luncheon at the Biltmore hotel, this being one of the feature events on an all-day entertainment program staged in the organization's honor.

Feasted at a mid-day luncheon that followed a morning business session; entertained at a baseball game between the Crackers and the Barons during the afternoon, and feasted at a banquet and a sizzling prize fight at night, members of the "72 Car club" of the Chevrolet Motor Car company, Wednesday were royally entertained at an all-day session here, with L. S. Costley, regional sales manager for the southeast, in the role of host.

Coming to Atlanta singly, in pairs, in groups and parties, and even in special trains from Birmingham and Columbia, the 600 men who have sold more than 72 cars during the past year invaded Atlanta Wednesday morning and began a day of fun and business.

The morning business session at the Biltmore hotel was devoted to sales talks of an inspirational nature, speakers being: L. S. Costley, regional manager; E. W. Heath, regional sales promotion manager; L. W. Williams, sales promotion manager; O. E. Yarbrough, sales promotion manager; P. A. Watson, sales manager, Birmingham, Ala.

The "72 club" men then were guests at a luncheon at the Biltmore, following which they saw the Crackers humbled by the Barons at Spiller field.

At 6 o'clock the prize salesmen were tendered an elaborate banquet at the Biltmore, many entertaining features being on the program.

The evening was climaxed with the big Chevrolet boxing show, at the auditorium.

Attesting the rising popularity of the Chevrolet car in this section, Mr. Costley pointed out that the "72 club" membership is twice as great this year as ever before. This tremendous increase thus indicated in Chevrolet sales, officials pointed out, was partly due to establishment in Atlanta of the great southeastern Chevrolet assembly plant, where 1,200 employees regularly employed from this city and section turn out approximately 200 Chevrolets every working day to be distributed in this territory.

Wednesday's great meeting was one of the most enthusiastic of its kind ever held, and Mr. Costley and local officials in charge were universally praised for their hospitality.

AUTOPSY ORDERED ON BODY OF DAVID

Working on the theory that shots from two different revolvers may have caused the death early Wednesday morning in a downtown hotel of Hoke S. David, of 1118 Glenwood avenue, Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole Wednesday afternoon ordered an autopsy on the body. Pending the autopsy, Recorder A. W. Callaway postponed preliminary hearing of three men held in the case from Wednesday afternoon to 8:30 o'clock this morning.

J. E. McGee, of Miami, Fla., admitted slayer of David; J. T. Fitzpatrick and Emmett Marks will be heard before Recorder Callaway this morning, while J. H. Vaughan, Atlanta business man, who was said by police to also have been in the room at the time of the shooting, will tell his version of the affair.

Vaughan left the room before police arrived, according to detectives. Questioned by detectives Wednesday, he was released. Chief Poole said his story coincided with that told by the other three men.

Exhibiting a slight cut on the knuckle of his right thumb, McGee pleaded he shot David in self-defense when the latter attacked him with a knife after he (McGee) had declined to enter a crap game with David, at the latter's invitation.

McGee, Fitzpatrick and Marks were being held by police on blanket charges, state that James E. Fitzpatrick, who is connected with the accounting firm of Richardson, Jackson and Davis, is not the Fitzpatrick held in the David shooting.

TRAFFIC DISPUTE SOLUTION IS NEAR

Solution of the dilemma regarding whether it is a violation of the law to make a right turn on traffic "stop" signs was promised Wednesday night when Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, chairman of the traffic committee, announced that he would call a special joint meeting of his committee and the police committee before Monday if possible in order to be ready to submit an ordinance designed to standardize construction of the laws.

For several weeks, Records A. W. Callaway and Murphy M. Holloway have differed in interpreting the city ordinance regulating such turns. Judge Callaway contending that it is legal to make the right turn without stopping if the vehicle is not exceeding eight miles an hour. Judge Holloway has contended that the law means just what it says and has fined offenders. The recorders asked the police committee for a ruling which would clarify the ordinance.

Steps looking towards solution of the problem were taken Wednesday night at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the police committee, when that body voted to ask Mr. York to call the special meeting. Alderman Charles Murphy, of the eleventh ward, chairman, presided.

The committee also on recommendation of Mr. York, who is a member of the police committee as well as chairman of the traffic committee, voted to take over administrative duties of the synchronized traffic control system in order to eliminate possible delays in placing the lamps back in repair. Four members of the department were disciplined following lengthy trials in which about a score of witnesses were called to the stand, and the resignation of Patrolman W. C. Duncan was accepted.

W. P. Russell was reprimanded for rough handling of a prisoner he arrested several days ago and Patrolman J. A. Bailey and F. C. Foster were given five days' suspension each after having been declared guilty of conduct unbecoming officers.

The officers were charged with having exceeded their authority in arresting a man at the intersection of Piedmont avenue and Pine street.

Lieutenant J. W. McWilliams was found guilty of using improper language in the captain's office and his suspension from August 18 was approved. Other routine matters also were considered by the committee.

BRASWELL RALLY AT DECATUR SET FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

Decatur, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—W. H. Braswell, candidate for sheriff of DeKalb county, will deliver an address at the corner of Mason avenue and LaFrance street Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made today. Mr. Braswell expects to go into details of the functions of sheriff, it is announced, and has invited his opponents, Jack Hall and O. L. White, to be present and share his speaking time.

This meeting, Mr. Braswell's friends state, will have no connection with any other meeting scheduled in DeKalb county Friday night. The candidate declares he will also outline his plans for combating the liquid evil and the cash bond situation.

STRATON DELAYS HARDWICK REPLY

New York, August 29.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. John Knoch Stratton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, today referred an invitation to debate Governor Smith's candidacy with Thomas W. Hardwick, former United States senator and former governor of Georgia, "to those who invited" him to Raleigh, N. C.

The invitation was extended by James F. Griffin, of the Wake County Democratic club, Raleigh, N. C. Reports from Atlanta, Ga., stated that Hardwick was willing to accept the invitation.

"My date for Raleigh is September 8, not 4," Dr. Stratton said today in a telegram to Mr. Griffin. "I am entirely in the hands of those who invited me to Raleigh and shall have to refer you to them. Will hope to get even my old friend Hardwick on the mourners' bench, if not across the line into the kingdom. I am not sure also that when my old friend Josephus Daniels hears all the facts I shall take to the south he will become mourner in chief."

RARE, TOO.

Scrabbles—What made him so famous as an author?

Wrottes—He sent a book to the publisher and then waited so long for it to be published that the book became rare and commanded high prices as extinct first editions.

KELLEY WEAKENS AS STATE SCORES

Los Angeles, August 29.—(AP)—The efforts of Frank H. Mellus to control his shaken emotions, and a similar weakening of the imperturbability of Leo P. Kelley, today laid a scene of tense drama in the beginning of testimony taking in Kelley's trial for the murder of his admitted illicit sweetheart, Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, slain wife of the wealthy sportsman.

Near the end of his hour and a half on the witness stand, as the first witness, Mellus covered his eyes with his hand, made visible efforts to master his shaking frame, and found himself unable to speak when asked to identify a photograph of the body of his slain wife.

Tears forced themselves down the witness' cheeks, and he looked to the courtroom ceiling when, after more than a minute, he uncovered his face to mumble an affirmative answer.

The confident air of the 29-year-old butcher boy defendant was gone, displaced by a blanched face, blinking eyes, and movements forward and sideways, as the first evidence against him was revealed to the six men and six women jurors.

HOOVER PLANNING SPEECHES IN EAST

BY W. B. RAGSDALE,

Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, August 29.—(AP)—While Herbert Hoover discussed his own speaking program today with some republican leaders, directors of the party finances met at republican headquarters, for the announced purpose of trimming the national campaign budget down to $3,000,000.

The nominees progressed far enough in his work to fix definitely that he would deliver at least three or four speeches before starting back to California late in October. However his program will be sufficiently flexible to permit the addition of other addresses if they become necessary to meet the exigencies of the campaign. Although he has decided against speaking on Labor day, he plans to expand the views on labor laid down in his acceptance speech in one of the first addresses he makes next month.

Details Indefinite.
Many of the details of his activities still are to be worked out, but in his conferences today with Representative Walter Newton, of Minnesota, chairman of the speakers' bureau, and Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, director of the eastern speakers' bureau, he laid down in general the course of action he will take. The three or four speeches already decided upon will be delivered in the east and at least one will be made in New England.

The budget conference brought the heads of all the various departments of the republican national committee into consultation with J. R. Nutt, of Chicago, national treasurer; Jeremiah Millbank, eastern treasurer, and Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the committee. For hours the chiefs of the different divisions of the committee's activities were assembled in the conference rooms engaged in a paring down process described as designed to trim all expenditures of the expense budget down to such a degree as to bring the total to as nearly within the $3,000,000 figure as possible.

Answers Raskob.
At the same time Dr. Work issued a statement describing as absurd quotations attributed to John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, charging that he had information that the republican budget was between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000.

"Our original budget of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 has not been extended," the republican chairman said.

While Hoover has spent much of his time since his return to Washington in an examination of the details of the party machinery with a view to decentralizing the work to a much larger degree than has been done in any other campaign, it was pointed out that the decentralization would result in a shifting of responsibility rather than affecting materially the financial affairs of the committee.

NURSES AT GRADY PREPARE CLOTHES FOR JACQUELINE

With a number of tiny garments already prepared by Grady hospital nurses for tiny Jacqueline Dawn in anticipation of the time when she may begin her career as the child of three young and very competent mothers, nurses at the hospital, who plan to adopt her, Jacqueline and her proposed foster-mothers were subjects of widespread commendation Wednesday at the hospital.

As state in The Constitution, Misses Frances Meng, Annie Lee and Pauline Willingham are planning adoption of the abandoned infant as soon as their terms of training are completed and they are graduated from the hospital, a matter of some four weeks.

GIVEN AUTO RIDE, STUDENT JAILED WITH CAR'S DRIVER

Macon, Ga., August 29.—(AP)—Federal prohibition enforcement officers seized an automobile here today with six cases of "red" liquor said to have been bound from Jacksonville, Fla., to Indiana. The occupants of the car gave their names as Clint H. Russell, of Indiana, and John C. McKiracahan, the latter stating that he is a University of Pennsylvania student and merely asked the driver of the car for a ride. Federal officials are investigating the latter statement and if it is found to be true it was indicated that McKiracahan would be freed.

COLLAPSE OF LUNG OF CHILD CAUSES DEATH AT GRADY

An unusual case was recorded Wednesday at Grady hospital when a baby was born with but one normal lung and died a few hours after its birth. Shortly after birth of the baby, the son of Mrs. Pearl Hicks, of 10 Lindale place, doctors detected pulmonary trouble through the use of a stethoscope and subjected the baby to an x-ray examination. In this way it was discovered that one of the child's lungs had completely collapsed.

BURGLARY IS CHARGED TO YOUTHFUL NEGRO

Arrested by Patrolman V. A. Howell early Wednesday morning as he left Selman's drug store, at Peachtree and Houston streets, James White, 15-year-old negro, Wednesday afternoon was committed to juvenile court on burglary charges. Patrolman Howell discovered the door of the store forced open and caught the boy as he came out.

L. H. Charter, proprietor of a drug store at 976 Edgewood avenue, Wednesday reported to police that his store had been entered by thieves Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. A large quantity of tobacco and cigars was reported missing.

Society Makes Preparations For Fall Season's Activities

Next to the last day in the final summer month finds society engrossed in making plans for the fall season. Each day the shops are filled with mothers and schoolgirls purchasing wardrobe appropriate for college and winter sports. Atlantans who have spent the summer at various resorts or in Europe are also returning in time to take a last fling in Atlanta's summer activities and to prepare for the fall's social gayeties. Parties of interest scheduled for today include two interesting affairs honoring Miss Dorothy Moody, a bride-elect, and a swimming party at the Piedmont Driving Club which Mrs. Louis Muldrow will be hostess in compliment to Miss Florence Wiley, of New Orleans, the guest of Miss Elizabeth Scott. Throughout the summer season, Thursday evening has proven a popular night for society to assemble on the roof garden of the Capital City Club. A forecast of reservations made for this evening at this popular club promises to outlive any of the preceding dinner-dances at this fashionable club with many lovely visitors as honor guests in congenial parties.

Mrs. Boston Gives Children's Party.

Mrs. F. A. Boston entertained at a children's party Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home on Virginia avenue in compliment to her granddaughter, Miss Alline Barnett, celebrating her tenth birthday.

Mrs. Osborne Barnett, Miss Sarah Craig and Miss Mantrae Casterberry assisted in entertaining.

The guests included: La Rue Bagwell, Florence Heinke, Elsie Mize, Margaret Hoffman, Harriette, N. C.; Jane Wallis, Wilton Casterberry, Sterling Slappy, James Craig, Billie Douglas, Frank Arnold, of Newnan, Ga.

Wesley Church Ladies To Serve Luncheon.

The ladies of the Wesley Memorial lunch room will serve the following luncheon, Thursday, August 30: Luncheon, 11:30 a. m., baked chicken, rice or dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, hot muffins and rolls, 35c; luncheon, 2 p. m., real lima beans, tomato with okra, hot muffins and rolls; desserts, home-made frozen boiled custard, apple float, ice watermelon, 10c; coffee, tea or butter milk, 5c. Mrs. D. A. Philpot is today's chairman. Menus are changed daily.

Miss Bivings Honors Miss Edith Bryan.

Miss Helen Bivings was hostess at a luncheon Wednesday at Dixie Hills Golf club in compliment to Miss Edith Bryan, of Rome, the guest of her cousin, Miss Ida Nevin.

Covers also were placed for Misses Catherine Harris and her guest, Virginia Hall, Catherine West, Melie Howell, Margaret King, Helen Smith, Phoebe Rhet, Margaret Branner, Clara Bell King and Camilla Holland.

Miss Powell Honors Miss Elizabeth Holman.

Miss Grace Powell entertained at luncheon Wednesday at Piedmont Driving Club, honoring Miss Elizabeth Holman, a bride-elect of October.

Covers were placed for Mesdames Clarence Laws, Arthur W. Powell, Horace Holman, Miss Mary Moseley, Catherine Bayley, Jane Small, Anne Lane Newell, Martha Bowen, Rosalind Lunsford, Estelle Boynton, Eleanor McIntyre, Isabelle Breitenbucher, Pamela Johnston and Isabelle Johnston.

Colleen Moore At Palace Matinee.

Attendance at the Saturday matinee at the Palace theater at Little Five Points is growing, more and more young people taking advantage of the program put on them by the Atlanta better films committee. This week's picture features Colleen Moore in "Ella Cinders," the modern Cinderella, whose adventures with her wicked stepmother and stepisters will be featured.

Mrs. Roy Smith, chairman of better films for the Edgewood school, the principal and the P. T. A. president assisting, will be in charge. The next chapters of the series, "Blake of Scotland Yard," will be shown, and Mrs. Smith has secured a fine prologue number. Plenty of prizes will add interest. A Felix comedy will be shown. The matinee begins at 10 o'clock and ends at 11:30 o'clock, giving mothers bringing children time for their week-end shopping. The attendance of adults is growing rapidly and the type of program is equally pleasing to them. Admission is ten cents for all children of school age and under, and 25 cents for adults.

Miss Simpson Weds Major J. B. Childers.

Of interest to many friends and relatives throughout the entire southland is the announcement today by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Palmer Simpson, of Toccoa, of the marriage on August 22 of their daughter, Miss Minnie Rheana, to Major John Bynum Childers, of the United States army. In this marriage two southern families of prominence and distinction are united. The bride comes of families on both the paternal and maternal sides who have stood for the highest and best in state and church interests since the earliest revolutionary days. As Miss Minnie Rheana Simpson she, by her beautiful personality and charm, won hosts of friends in her own right and was an acknowledged belle not only in the younger social set of her home town and state, but of the entire south. She was often the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Gossett, of Williamson, S. C., who will also be delightfully remembered as a southern belle, when as Sarah Simpson she was an Agnes Scott girl, spending much time with Atlanta friends and relatives.

Mrs. Childers received her education at Converse college, South Carolina, later taking a further course at Columbia university. Major Childers comes of a North Carolina family of renowned southern lineage. He has his high rank in military life in the late world war, having entered as second lieutenant and rising rapidly in recognition of military prowess. With a honeymoon spent motoring in the North Carolina mountains, after September 1, Major and Mrs. Childers will be at home at Palmhurst, the ancestral home of the bride in Toccoa.

Miss McDaniel Weds Mr. Baker In Chicago, Ill.

Atlanta friends of Leon Baker, widely-known young business man of this city and manager of the F. & W. Grand company store, Wednesday were pleasantly surprised to learn of his marriage in Chicago Monday to Miss Ruby McDaniel, popular young Atlanta woman. The ceremony was solemnized at the First Methodist church in the presence of a small assemblage of friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Baker were tendered a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ross Grant in Evanston, Ill. The young couple left immediately after for a honeymoon trip by auto through Wisconsin and Canada and will return to the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago, remaining there until September 2. They will then return to Atlanta and will be at the Henry Grady hotel.

Mrs. Baker has a wide circle of friends here, being the daughter of H. P. McDaniel, of Talbotton, Ga. Mr. Baker also is widely-known, being prominent in business and club circles.

Miss Noonan And George C. Clarke Wed in October

The engagement of Miss Cecelia Ruth Noonan to George C. Clarke was announced at a dinner Tuesday evening at the Cambridge Arms, in Cleveland, Ohio, at which Mrs. Harriet F. Keenan, sister of Miss Noonan, and Mrs. Thomas E. Mullin were hostesses. The wedding date has been set for Thursday, October 4, at Holy Rosary church. Miss Noonan is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Noonan, 648 Berkeley road. She is a graduate of Mount Carmel Hospital Training school and for the past two years has been on the nursing staff of the Allison hospital at Miami Beach, Fla.

Mr. Clarke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clarke, of Atlanta, and is claim manager for the Richardson and Harris Insurance company of Miami, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will attend the marriage as will other members of the groom-elect's family.

Chi Omega Alumnae To Meet Saturday.

The Atlanta alumnae of Chi Omega fraternity meets at the home of Miss Elizabeth Patterson, 1307 Morning-side drive, at 10 o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 1. Plans for fall activities are to be discussed at this meeting. A special part of the program of the meeting will be the appointment of committee chairmen and their coworkers.

The officers for the ensuing year elected at the last meeting are Miss Dorothy Horton, president; Miss Nettie Feagin, vice president; Miss Nettie Wilson, secretary; Miss Marie Green, treasurer; Miss Ida Dudley Glass, publicity manager and Eleusis magazine correspondent.

"YE OLDE TYME COMFORT SHOES"

A Dainty Morning Frock.

6255. Printed lawn was chosen for this attractive, youthful model. It features the side closing and the V-neck line, now so popular. The short sleeves are cut in one with the waist. Seam portions are joined to the front edges of the waist portions, one end is slipped through an opening in the opposite side, and meets the other end to tie in a bow at the back. The style is pleasing in gingham, cotton, voile or in wash silk.

The pattern is cut in five sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size will require 3 3/4 yards of 30-inch material. To finish with bias binding as illustrated will require 8 5/8 yards. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended is 17 1/2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps. Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1928-29 book of fashions.

Doll Wedding Features Party Of Little Hostess at Fort

Fort McPherson, August 29.—Pettite Miss Nancy Ann Gaugler entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon at the quarters of her parents, Major and Mrs. Roland L. Gaugler Wednesday at the post, inviting eleven little girls, to help her celebrate her seventh birthday.

The small guests were seated at one long table which was graced with a Dresden lunch basket filled with pink roses. The ice was molded pink roses and the frosted cakes were ornamented with roses and butterflies. A novel feature was the doll wedding with the rainbow effect carried out in the dresses of the miniature bridesmaids. With their dainty frocks of pastel shades they wore broad brimmed, horsehair hats, flower-trimmed, and gilt slippers. Their flowers were old-fashion bouquets with lace paper hearts. The little flower girl wore white moire and carried white and pink flowers. The bride was lovely in white satin, made with a tight bodice and long sleeves and full skirt. The court train was attached to the shoulders and trimmed with seed pearls. The tulle veil was worn on fashion and caught with orange blossoms. After the wedding each small guest was presented one of the bridesmaids as a souvenir of the occasion.

Nancy Ann's interpretation of the lovely Lady Betty Gavotte, written early in the seventeenth century was especially enjoyable. Her costume with its quaint bodice, ruffled skirt and pantalettes reflected a by-gone day.

The guest list included Peggy Myl, Betty Sue Herwig, Harriet Ramsey, Betty Barnett, Lenora Gaugler, Finkie Myl, Martha Procter, Virginia Herwig, Dorothy Holliday, Barbara Ann Ramsey, and Charlotte Roberts, of Atlanta.

Riding Class.
Wednesday morning the ladies' riding class at Fort McPherson under the old belief that thirteen is an unlucky number, there were exactly thirteen members of the class present and not one took a tumble. The "bull ring" with its rustic fence in the midst of the green of the forest trees provides an attractive setting for the early morning classes. Those riding were Mrs. Hans R. W. Herwig, on "Virginia Bell," Mrs. Henry W. Warner, on "Caroline," Mrs. Robert Joerg, on "Lily," Mrs. Augustus B. Jones, on "Maryland Club," Mrs. Ralph C. Holliday, on "Clarice," Mrs. Henry W. Robinson, on "Oh Boy," Mrs. A. M. Parsons, on "Colo," Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey, on "Grey Boy," Mrs. Albert G. Wing, on "Jiggs," Miss Katharine Ripley, on "Sweetwater," Miss Majorie Ripley, on "Bourbon," and Miss Ruth Pecks on "Linda."

The Officers' club of Fort McPherson has issued invitations to a number of fashionable of military and civilian circles to attend a dance in honor of Colonel and Mrs. George F. Baltzell Friday evening, August 31, at 9 o'clock.

The hop committee is making plans to have the affair attractive in detail and several hundred guests are expected to attend.

Preceding the hops, General and Mrs. Abraham M. Jones, of Nashville, Tenn., will be the guests of the Officers' club at the Officers' club of Fort McPherson.

Miss Pearl Harris Weds Mr. Chisholm.

Lafayette, Ga., August 29.—The marriage of Miss Pearl Harris and Charles Chisholm was a beautiful event of Sunday, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Crouch, Lafayette, Ga. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. B. Arvin, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lafayette, in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends. Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Lila O'Neal, pianist; Miss Mary Scott Phillips, violinist, and Miss Clarence Knox, vocalist.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Herman David Loach, of Atlanta, who was given in dark blue gorette and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses showered with swansons.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Elbert Crouch, was attractively gowned in dark blue chiffon. Her dress was fashioned at the neck with cream lace, with full pleated skirt. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. The bride's flowers were Sweetheart roses, showered with lilies of the valley.

The groom was attended by Herman David Loach, of Atlanta, formerly of Lafayette, Ga. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held. Miss Grace Bowen, of Lafayette, had chaperoned the bride. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm left for an extended motor trip. The bride's traveling costume was a brown satin back crepe with hat and accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm will make their home in Nashville, Tenn.

Movie Program To Feature Better Film Luncheon

A novelty program of motion pictures has been provided by Mrs. Newton C. Wing, president of the better films organization for the luncheon to be given by the membership at Joseph Habersham hall Thursday, August 30, at noon at the hall.

Featuring the program will be Mildred Seydell, who will touch on the highlights of motion picture supervision by the public, both here and abroad. As a member of the film committee and a mother, Mrs. Seydell views the movies from the angle both of a cosmopolitan and an Atlanta citizen.

Since the members aim to keep informed on all matters affecting motion pictures, Mrs. Wing has invited as a speaker E. E. Carithers, of the Eastman Kodak company, who will describe the motion picture camera and will demonstrate its use. One of the films shown will be of local interest, showing many Atlanta citizens who took part in the better homes campaign in 1927, when Atlanta was a national prize winner.

Short reports of summer activities and concise plans for the winter season, will constitute the program. New chairman will be introduced. Members who have been assisting on the reservation committee are Mrs. John W. Lloyd, secretary, and Mesdames E. W. Burruss, O. J. Dinkler, W. McWaters, Ernest Brown, Roy Smith, C. F. Angel, John G. Courtney, N. E. Russell, H. J. Couch and Miss Marie McDaniel. A few reservations will be held open for those who have not been able to be reached by telephone.

St. Philip's Aid To Serve Lunch.

The following menu will be served by the Ladies' Aid of St. Philip's cathedral, Thursday from 12 to 2 o'clock at the lunch room at Washington and Hunter streets: Meat loaf with tomato sauce, fresh string beans, candied sweet potatoes, biscuits, bread sticks or whole wheat biscuits, 25 cents; ice tea, coffee, sweet milk or buttermilk, 5 cents.

cents; ice tea, coffee, sweet milk or buttermilk, 5 cents.

McConnell's Works On Exhibition.

An exhibition of the canvases of Plinky McConnell is being held at Cable Piano company, on the second floor in Cable Hall, the hours being from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., daily, except Sundays. The exhibit is made up mostly of landscapes and flower subjects and of particular interest is one of a mother and her babe. It is interestingly recalled that some of Mr. McConnell's pictures have been in display at a number of exhibitions held in Atlanta, during the past four years. The pictures now on display showing his more recent work are possibly more spirited and colorful than those of the earlier exhibits. The public is cordially invited to attend the display.

The Misses VanHook's School of Fine Arts and Kindergarten, 52 Inman Circle, will reopen Sept. 5, at 9 o'clock. Arrangements may be made for the school car to call for children when desired.—(adv.)

Diet and Health

DRINKING SALT WATER MAY TURN OUT HARMFUL

"Please advise me if you consider the daily practice of drinking a quart of lukewarm salt water for constipation injurious or hurtful in any way."

Any persistently used method—cathartic, enemata, or drinking of large amounts of water, salted or plain, at one time—artificially stimulating the bowels, may damage the colon eventually and so indirectly the other body tissues.

After a complete emptying of the colon, such as will occur with these measures, it will take two or three days for it to fill sufficiently to cause the normal bowel movement. It seems to be necessary that there be a column of food residue in the colon before the peristalsis is normal and pushes forward that portion which should be lost. The patient, not knowing this, on the second day or so after using one of these methods, will again resort to it, and so the habit is formed.

The colon has a small part in digestion. It is believed that some of the valuable mineral salts are abstracted from the food during its stay in the upper part of the colon. This should not habitually be flushed out by any method. The long continued use of these measures will also probably tend to diminish the sensibility of the bowels so that perhaps they have to have stronger and stronger stimuli in order to act.

It is commonly believed that if the bowels do not move, there is an absorption of poisons, and this may happen if there is a long retention; but it should be remembered that the colon was intended to hold the solid wastes of the body and this absorption of toxin is probably too much emphasized.

It is true that if the rectum is full there will be disagreeable symptoms, perhaps headaches and dizziness. However, it has been found that these symptoms can be produced experimentally by packing the rectum with cotton and that they disappear in a few moments after its expulsion. This looks as though in part at least, it was the pressure that caused the symptoms.

If the muscles of the rectum are sluggish and there is a retention of Printer's Ink.

"In yesterday's paper there was an article which ran after your column, about how to keep celery crisp. I know it was not yours, but I wish you would tell me if you consider it safe. The method was to wrap the celery tightly in a newspaper after cleaning, and put directly on the ice."

It would be a question of whether there was any poison in the printer's ink which might be transferred to the celery. I think it is unlikely. At the recent A. M. A. convention one of the doctors gave a paper on a dermatitis (skin inflammation) caused by handling the colored supplements of the Sunday papers. Some evidently are susceptible to the materials used.

It is undoubtedly better to wrap the celery in a clean cloth or plain wrapping paper.

SAVANNAH OFFICER DROWNS AT TYBEE IN HEART ATTACK

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(AP)—

Gustav L. Canon, 23, city policeman, was drowned this afternoon in the ocean at Tybee, when his heart failed him and he was swept out to sea by the undertow. His body was recovered two hours later when the tide turned and washed it ashore.

The same large wave that swept over Canon submerged the 17-year-old daughter of Policeman F. P. Darland, who was one of the party of six, and strangled her. Just before she lost consciousness she assumed a floating position and was found in this position, unconscious, by a rescuing party. She was revived by artificial respiration.

After an examination of Canon's body, Coroner George H. Johnson stated that death was due to heart failure.

The swimming party had entered the surf on the northern end of Tybee island, where no lifeguards are stationed, and where there were only a few bathers. It was the first drowning at Tybee this summer.

Canon is survived by the widow and a 6-month-old baby. Funeral arrangements are pending.

SEARCH FOR GIRL RESULTS IN ARREST OF KNOXVILLE PAIR

Buffalo, N. Y., August 29.—(AP)—

Detectives today arrested James Barrett, 40, and Miss Leona Hazlett, 31, both of Knoxville, Tenn., in their apartments in a hotel here, in connection with the alleged kidnapping of "Pinkie" Koehn, 13-year-old Knoxville girl. They failed to find the child.

A nation-wide search has been conducted for the child. Barrett, nor Miss Hazlett, who occupied separate apartments, would make any statement to police concerning the alleged kidnapping.

Telegrams have been sent to Knoxville authorities notifying them of the arrests. Barrett and Miss Hazlett were said to have been made at the request of Sheriff Anderson, of Knox county. The couple are charged with abduction.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 29.—(AP)—

James Barrett and Miss Leona Hazlett, arrested in Buffalo today in connection with the alleged kidnapping of "Pinkie" Koehn, 13-year-old Knoxville girl, promoted an amateur moving picture here last night. Barrett was promoter of the enterprise and Miss Hazlett his assistant.

Miss Koehn had a small part in the picture. Barrett and Miss Hazlett left in June after completing the picture and Miss Koehn disappeared. It is not known here where she is, if any, there is against the two.

Keep Your Skin Young

Remove all blemishes and discolorations by regularly using pure mercurized wax. Get an ounce at any drug store and use as directed. Fine, almost invisible particles of aged skin peel off until all defects, such as pimples, liver spots, tan, freckles and large pores have disappeared. Skin is beautifully clear, soft and velvety and face looks years younger. Mercurized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and age lines, use this face lotion. 1 ounce guaranteed. Use with a half pint witch hazel.—(adv.)

AGED TEXAS VETERAN IS ATLANTA VISITOR

A leader of the southern hosts when they fought in the war between the states and still a leader in Confederate veterans' activities although 90 years have passed over his snowy head, General J. T. Clinkscales, of San Antonio, Texas, will leave Atlanta Thursday morning for his home, where he will arrange for the annual Texas state veterans' reunion on October 2.

General Clinkscales, who is commander of the western division, Forrest cavalry, and commander of the second division of veterans in Texas, has been making an extensive tour of the south for more than three months. His last stop before returning to San Antonio was in Atlanta, where he visited his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Clinkscales, and Mr. and Mrs. George Norris.

The general is as active and alert as a soldier many years younger, and says he expects to live to be 110. In the war of the '60s he enlisted in the Forrest Cavalry, and although wounded once, never lost a day's service. His principal engagement was the battle of Shiloh, where his cavalry division covered the retreat of General Johnston's army after that great commander had been killed.

Instead of leading a retired life as his years would permit, General Clinkscales takes an active part in all reunions and organizations of the Confederate veterans. He is in personal charge of the Texas state reunion and makes all arrangements for accommodating the old soldiers at their yearly meetings. Immediately upon reaching home, he will start preparing for the 1928 meeting at Tyler, Texas.

In his recent tour of the south, the general spent much time in Charlotte, N. C., where the next national gathering will be held. The reunion will be held next May, and nearly 500 veterans will attend, General Clinkscales said.

CURTIS IS GUEST OF G. O. P. LEADERS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Williamsport, Pa., August 29.—(AP)

Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, stopped over here tonight for dinner with the county chairman and a reception with party leaders on his way to Harrisburg, where he speaks tomorrow.

S. Van Brown, chairman of the county committee, assured the senator of a bright outlook in this section. The nominee motored to Williamsport from Watkins Glen, N. Y., where he spent the night and he later tonight resumed his motor trip to Harrisburg, where he will be the guest of Governor Fisher.

Word of his presence spread about the city and a crowd was on hand at the Lycoming hotel to greet the senator as he left. He shook hands all around.

NEGRO CHARGED WITH MURDER OF NEWSPAPERMAN

Louisville, August 29.—(AP)—

Edward Perkins, 22, a negro, was charged tonight with the slaying of Harold A. Ruby, 29, newspaperman, who was found dying on the sidewalk at Seventh and Chestnut streets here, by police early today.

Two other negroes took part in the slaying, according to an alleged confession Perkins made to M. Roy Yarbrough, chief of detectives. These were being sought tonight.

Robbery motivated the shooting, according to the statement given police, but Perkins denied that he fired the shot that killed Ruby, holding that this was done by a companion.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

TOO MUCH CURIOSITY.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Too much of anything is bad. And frequently results are sad. Old Mother Nature.

There are times when curiosity is a good thing. There are more times when it is a bad thing. Sometimes it opens the door to knowledge and sometimes it opens the door to trouble. It is more likely to do the latter than the former. Peter Rabbit has learned a great deal through curiosity. Also, he has had many narrow escapes through curiosity. But the latter haven't taught him anything. He is still as curious as ever. Yes, sir, Peter is as full of curiosity as ever he was. The worst of it is he will take all sorts of chances to gratify that curiosity. It is a lucky thing for Peter that he has those long hind legs to get him out of the trouble that his long ears get him into.

Peter was over in the Green Forest. How it happens that Peter had not heard the news in regard to the children of Yowler the Bobcat and Mrs. Yowler, I do not know, but he didn't. He didn't know that there were two kittens over there in the Green Forest. Had he known about them perhaps he would have been satisfied to stay in the dear old Briar-patch, as timid Mrs. Peter begged him to. But he didn't know, so here he was over in the Green Forest.

Peter was looking for his big cousin, Juniper the Hare, and he wasn't paying the closest attention to his surroundings. The result was that he was just about to hop out into a patch of moonlight when some one jumped out there before him. Peter stopped short. My, my, my how those eyes of his did open! He held his breath! There was a prickly feeling running up and down his backbone and this should have warned him to get away from there as quickly as he could. But of school quarters will be severely taxed when the first session is held on September 17. As enrollment must of necessity be limited, all students desiring to enter the school are requested to register promptly September 10. Tuition rates this year will be payable in advance of each term.

The sight of that stranger in the moonlight was too much for him. So he simply set there and stared and stared. "It's the living image of Yowler the Bobcat, only smaller," thought Peter. "Can it be that Yowler has a baby? It is queer I haven't heard of it. Yes, sir, it is queer I haven't heard of it."

Meanwhile the kitten in the moonlight was playing with a leaf. He would pounce on it, toss it in the air, roll over and over with it. Peter was so intent on watching this kitten that he forgot to look anywhere else. So he didn't see the head of another kitten peering out from the Black Shadow on the edge of the moonlit space. This kitten was just preparing to join her brother who was playing with the leaf when a wandering little Night Breeze tickled her nose with a smell that made her suddenly forget all about play. That smell was the smell of Rabbit. She recognized it at once. She and her brother had had many a good meal on Rabbit brought by their mother.

She crouched flat and then she began to creep toward Peter Rabbit, just as you have seen a cat creep toward a mouse or bird. She would creep a few steps then lift her head to test the air and to look. So it was that pretty soon she discovered Peter, for Peter happened to move a little. You should have seen her funny little stub tail twirl. It was twitching with excitement and eagerness. Now this kitten had had some experience in watching mice. She had become quite expert in creeping up on them. So it was that she approached nearer and nearer to Peter Rabbit. Foolish Peter was forgetful of everything in gratifying his curiosity. Had he done any thinking at all he would have known better than to sit there, never looking to either side and not using his ears and nose for possible enemies. He was too curious to remember at all that there is always danger in the Green Forest. So the young Bobcat crept nearer and nearer and her eyes fairly glowed with eagerness.

RADIO SHOW TO OPEN DOORS AT 2 P. M. DAILY

Official hours for public exhibitions, trade showings, concerts and stages revues at Atlanta's biggest radio-electrical exposition, which opens for a record-breaking week at the auditorium Monday after next, were announced Wednesday from headquarters, Parlor F, Ansley hotel.

The capacity assemblage of displays of everything new in the radio and electrical realms will open its doors to the daily throngs at 2 o'clock in afternoon and all departments will be maintained in full action until 10:30 every night.

The "pre-view" exhibitions, limited exclusively to merchants in the radio-electrical field who will attend from every state in the southeast, will begin Tuesday and will be conducted daily from noon until 2 o'clock. Tickets may be obtained from any exhibitor or from headquarters.

Afternoon visitors will be entertained by a daily concert of two hours duration, 2:30-4:30, with Rudy Brown and his orchestra supplying lively harmony from the bandstand over the main entrance. Evening visitors will hear another serenade by the orchestra from 8 to 9 o'clock.

Farewell Reception Tendered Gen. Walker, Canal Zone Governor

Panama, August 29.—(P)—President Chirri gave a farewell reception at the presidential palace last night in honor of Brigadier General M. L. Walker, governor of the Canal Zone, who leaves September 2 for the United States. Canal Zone authorities and Panamanian government officials as well as social and political leaders attended the reception.

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTERS.

Thirty radio stations associated with the National Broadcasting company tonight will broadcast formal notification ceremonies of Senator Joseph Robinson, democratic vice presidential candidate, in Hot Springs, Ark., at 8:30 o'clock. The network includes stations on the Atlantic seaboard, including WSB, on the Pacific coast, a transmitter in New Orleans and another on the Canadian border.

The voice of Senator Robinson is not an unknown one to radio listeners. As permanent chairman of the democratic national convention in Houston his words frequently were on the air. His plea for tolerance, made during the convention, was one of the high spots of the broadcast report of the political session.

The broadcast from Hot Springs will bring another outstanding figure of the Houston convention again before the radio public. He is Claude Bowers, New York newspaper man, who made the keynote speech at the democratic gathering. Bowers will make the notification speech at Hot Springs.

John E. Martineau, governor of Arkansas, will make a speech of welcome and John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, will preside. Music will be by the Arkansas national guard band.

Norman Sweetser, veteran NBC announcer, will be at the microphone in Hot Springs. Sweetser also handled the microphone at the broadcast of notification ceremonies for Senator Charles Curtis, republican vice presidential candidate in Topeka and for the Herbert Hoover home coming celebration in West Branch, Iowa, recently.

Old-time favorites and popular ballads of the present day will share the honors in the weekly Halsey Stuart hour to be broadcast through WSB and the NBC system at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Old Counsellor as usual will be present in the studios to provide reliable information and suggestions for solving individual financial problems. This anonymous expert on securities and investments heard each week in the Halsey Stuart hour has fully merited the name by which he is known to thousands of radio listeners—the "Old Counsellor."

Musical details of the program follow: Dancing Shadows.....Golden Wedding of the Rose.....Jesse Alabama Patrol.....Stahl Schenck Rasmussen.....Kreiser Pickle Cotton from "George White's Scandals."

"Hard to say, but I often have to warn the girls"

—Says a woman athletic director

When they learn of this new process* which neutralizes all odor in sanitary pads, they no longer fear offending others—self-consciousness disappears entirely

NO woman, from girlhood on, is free from the possibility of offending others at times. Often she is not even aware of it. When she learns, doubt and worry make light-headedness impossible. Now a discovery of Kotex scientists overcomes this fear; each pad is scientifically treated to end all odor. The process is patented. No other pad offers such security.

No evidence of sanitary protection

That other fear—the feeling of being conspicuous—is also eliminated. Corners of the Kotex pad are scientifically rounded and tapered so as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection worn.

Yet every advantage remains

When you need greater or less protection, you can so easily add or subtract layers of filler. It is, as always, absorbent to an amazing degree. The fact that you can so easily dispose of it makes a great difference to women. And a new treatment renders it softer, fluffier, than you thought possible.

Won't you try the Improved Kotex—a box of this very day. It is 45c for a box of twelve, at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtained through vending cabinets in rest-rooms.

*Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process (Patent No. 1,870,387, granted May 22, 1928.)

Deodorizes... and 4 other important features:

1—Softer gauze ends chafing; pliable filler absorbs as no other substance can;

2—Corners are rounded and tapered; no evidence of sanitary protection under any gown;

3—Deodorizes—safely, thoroughly, by a new and exclusive patented process;

4—Adjust it to your needs; filler may be made thinner, thicker, narrower as required;

and

5—It is easily disposed of; no unpleasant laundry.

Crackers Split Double-Header With Barons, 4-3 and 4-2

Ray Francis Hurls Final; Hit 6 Times

Jay Partridge Triples To Score Three Atlanta Runs in Opener.

BY BEN COTHMAN.
Wild grew the raspberries at Spiller's Wednesday afternoon. They were planted there for the benefit of Mr. John Dobbs, manager of a certain baseball club in the Southern association, and his associates, and the boys reaped a large harvest. This harvesting of raspberries was occasioned by the fact that the best tail-end ball club in the league—the Crackers—were playing the frail and timorous Barons, leaders of the league by virtue of the untimely assistance of Billy West, of Birmingham, and excellent pitching on the part of President John D. Martin in throwing out 14 games won by the Crackers.

So the home nine, undaunted, proceeded on its way, and after 17 games on the road, tumbled in at the Terminal station yesterday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, out to Spiller's and proceeded to split a double-header with the Barons. There are some who will tell you that the Crackers should have won both games, and we are one of them.

Tough Breaks.
But a couple of bad breaks in the first one and a 3-0 Atlanta lead was melted away and turned into a 4-3 victory for Birmingham. There were times—well, there always are.

So in the second Mr. Dobbs tried some more of his cunning and attempted to work the castoff trick, tempting in Ray Francis, once a Cracker, to pitch. So there was nothing for the Crackers to do but pound Ray rather freely for eight hits and win out by a score of 4 to 2. They did, and today play the last game of the short series.

Maybe there'll be a few people on hand today. To see those fans who packed and jammed their way into the ball park Wednesday would have thought Dempsey was fighting Willard in one of those free fights that seem to have become prevalent here of late. Earl Mann, hard-working young secretary, announced last night that something like 10,000 people had jammed into the stands to see the games and razz Mr. Dobbs and his playmates, which they did extensively and vociferously.

Raspberries.
Every movement made by Mr. Dobbs was the signal for boos, ungainly noises and the red, ripe raspberry. And the Barons' backs became red, deep crimson red. They put to shame even Mr. William Brennan, the umpire who is subject to attacks of "strawberry neck." And when young Mr. turns redder than Mr. Brennan's when that worthy is angered then your neck is red.

Both games were exceedingly well played, which we would say offhand is marvelous in view of recent developments, that Nick, who has been in the center field that Nick, in his crippled condition, couldn't reach home, and it was by means of these that Birmingham put across a victory in the first.

They started their scoring after Jay Partridge, steady, dependable Jay, had come to bat in the first inning, found the bases loaded and sent a triple towards relieving the strained condition of the infield. So he pounded the ball far into the air, and it came down, Max West, Jim Poole and Nick Culp came prancing home while the fans near tore down the stands. West had been safe when Shinn was in the throw. Poole had singled and Culp had walked.

Prodigious Pounding.
Then Jay came on the scene and if he never gets any bigger, he is telling the grandchildren about that. For he laid right into the ball and it traveled a "four piece."

After that the Crackers wandered around the bases but no one, it seemed, could show them the way home. Then in the fourth Birmingham began nibbling at the lead. Stewart doubled, took third on an infield out and then scored on Bigelow's short single to center.

Nothing more happened until the sixth. Johnston walked. Then two men went out and Rosefield singled to left. West went back and a good throw, three to Rhie! but it was too late to get Johnston. Rosefield, meanwhile, was steaming to second. Rhie! made a bad throw to Partridge and Johnston came home. After Yarnan was intentionally walked, Smith dropped a single in left and Rosefield scored. Johnston doubled to center in the eighth, the ball getting by Cullip, and Stewart, who had dropped a Texas leaguer back of second, raced for home with the winning run.

Olsen Goes Well.
The Barons got to Art Olsen for 11 hits, but Arthur pitched himself a good ball game, and in the end, however, when two singles and a sacrifice placed men on first and third, Dudley relieved Olsen and Johnston, the first man to face him, hit into a double play.

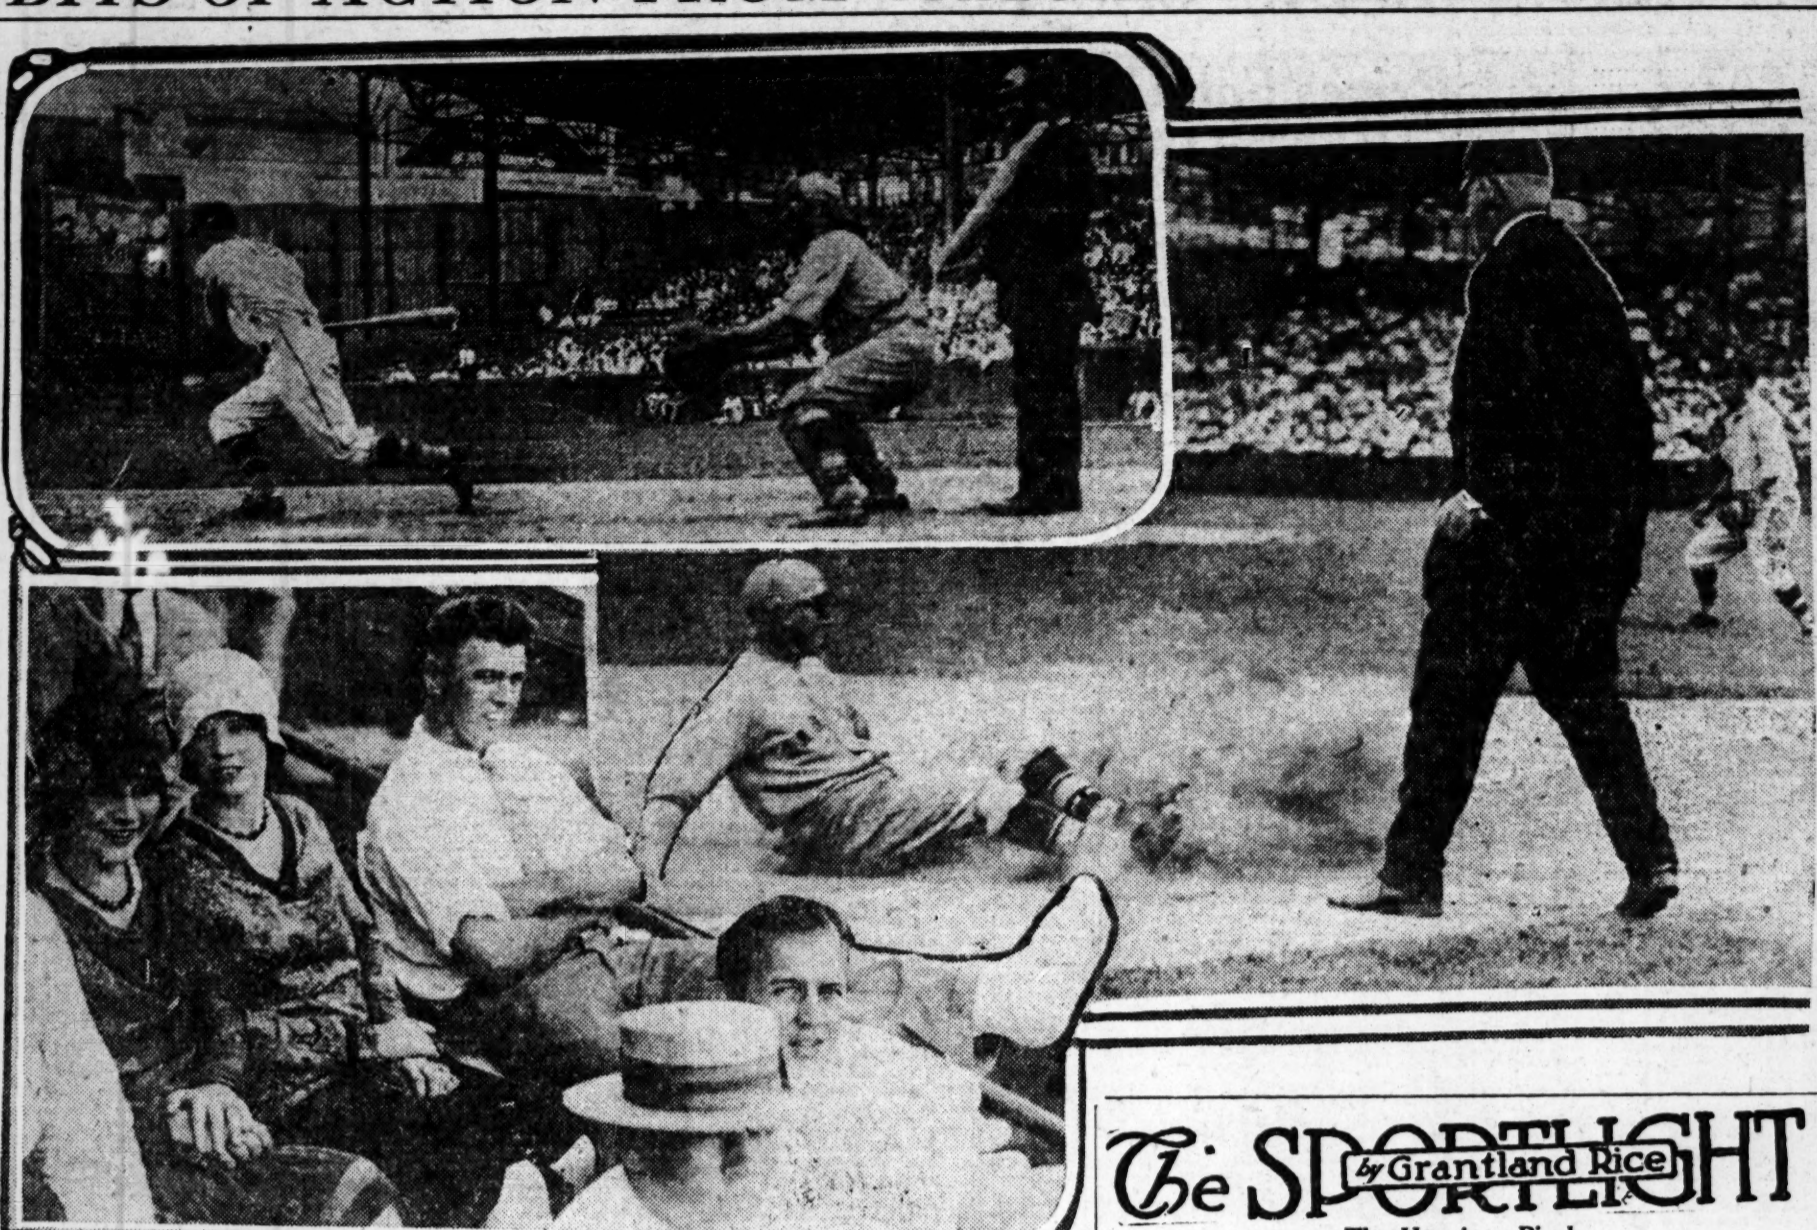

This same thing occurred in the second game with Dudley again and in, this time in the sixth inning to relieve George Dumont, and Carlyle hit into a double play to retire the side. You might call that effective relief hurling.

Billy Rhie came up with some good shots at third base and is improving continually. His arms have been terribly sore, which has impaired his throwing to some extent, but Billy hasn't booted a ground ball at third yet.

George Dumont started in the second game with the Crackers and up until the time when he was struck out, he did very well. The Barons made six hits but were never dangerous until the sixth when Dudley did his bit. After Birmingham scored a run in the second Atlanta tied in the same inning, went one-up in the next and held its lead to the finish.

Dirty Work.
The lower end of the batting order did most of the dirty work in this second affair and started the ball rolling. Johnny Jones struck the ball far out in left field for a double with two men out in the second. Then Johnny Brock sent the ball screaming down the third-base line and Jones scored. Brock, anxious to stretch his

BITS OF ACTION FROM CRACKER-BARON GAMES

Above are scenes from the double-header between the Barons and Crackers played at Spiller field Wednesday afternoon. At the top left is Jay Partridge, Crackers' third sacker, just as he smacked a triple in the opening of the first game. Below is "Jumbo" Barrett, Memphis catcher, who was injured here in the last-out of the second game. His wife is shown beside him. The fellow sliding into third base is Johnston, Baron third sacker. Bill Brennan, umpire, is shown standing by the bag.

MALON COURTS IS VICTORIOUS OVER PFEIFER

Charleston, W. Va., August 29.—(AP) Eliza Cox, of Asheville, N. C., tonight was the women's singles tennis champion of southern West Virginia. She gained the championship by vanquishing Marion Wells, of Washington, D. C., today, 6-0, 6-3. In the semi-final matches Miss Cox defeated Mary L. Dickinson, Charleston, 6-2, 6-0, while Miss Wells went into the finals by defeating Mrs. H. L. Pritchard, of Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., 6-4, 7-5.

The Fort Worth, Texas, school boy, John MacDiarmid, 10, continued his victorious procession through the ranks of the men's singles players and defeated Herman L. Bennett, of Charleston, 6-0, 6-1. He will play Louisville, defeated Roy Saunders, of Charleston, 6-0, 4-6, 6-0, and Thomas C. McKinley, Charleston, defeated Herman L. Bennett, Charleston, 6-0, 6-4.

Nats Buy Bolton.
Washington, August 29.—(United Press)—Purchase by the Washington Senators of H. P. Bolton, 20-year-old sensational catcher of the High Point team of the Piedmont league, was announced tonight by President Clark Griffith. He will join the Senators September 11, when the Piedmont season ends.

hit into a double, was thrown out at second by Carlyle and that was over. Frank Zoeller, singled in the third, again with two down, and Max West, who hit very effectively yesterday, tripled to right-center and Zoeller scored.

In the fifth the Crackers again used two hits to manufacture a run. Their double play with a single to right after West had been intentionally walked, hit to deep short, Dumont sacrificed him to second and Jim Poole kicked through with a single to right after West had been intentionally walked.

And it wasn't over yet. Johnny Jones singled to center in the very next inning and a double down the third-base line put him on third. Brock, wielding a heavy stick, did the double. Ollman walked, which made the bases rather full. Then Mr. Francis, who should know the faults of the Crackers at the plate if anyone does, made the mistake of walking Zoeller, after striking out Dumont. Naturally this left no place for Jones to go to but home, so he went and that made four runs.

Barons' First.
After Bigelow doubled to left, not quite the place for a left-handed hitter to dump a ball, in the second inning, Rosefield singled to right and brought him home with Birmingham's first run.

From then until the sixth the boys couldn't do very much with Dumont. Then they made one in the sixth. Smith lifted a foul back of third and was retired when Rhie! made a brilliant catch. But Stewart came up and hit a single to left and Rhie! doubled yesterday—Johnston dropped a dinky single back of second and Bigelow singled to right to score Stewart. This was the point at which Dudley entered the game and the double play was put on, Johnny Jones turning in a nice piece of fielding to accomplish the act.

But that was all the Birmingham scoring and everything is ready for today. If the Crackers can take this game, then they will be in a way vindicated, for winning two out of three games is the best way we know of to win a three-game series.

The futures contracts sold up to 19.26 on March 10, 14, with all positions well above the 10-cent level. In advance was checked by realizing these figures and the market was confirmed after the release of the report of the weather bureau. Report, evidently, was less bullish than expected and the market advanced. If there had been considerable rain recently in anticipation that weekly review would furnish a more favorable outlook.

There were little spurts of covering caused more or less irregularly, bulges met increased offerings in the market, but these subsided and weaker late in the afternoon. Bulk of the selling was attributed to liquidation, but there was a little southern selling here and half hour which probably suggested some selling by local or street interests.

October broke to 18.90 and closing was the lowest of the day.

TIONS HALT ORLEANS RISE.

Orleans, August 29. (AP)—Early advance of about $1.50 a share was followed by reactions in the market today and although fluctuated frequently rather liquidation was encountered in trading on fears of large private sales. December contracts, which had traded up to $8.69, closed net up, eased off to 18.32, closed at 18.34, compared with a rise at yesterday's close. The gen-market opened higher in sympathy with bullish Liverpool cables.

English market came in 2 to 3 points higher than due and prices attributed the firmness to continued buying, despite shorts covering. First round showed gains of 11 to 15 ¢ before the initial demand supplies. October contracts reached 13.38 ¢ and the general market was 23 to 28 ¢ points. Reports of crop deterioration led to the firmness.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

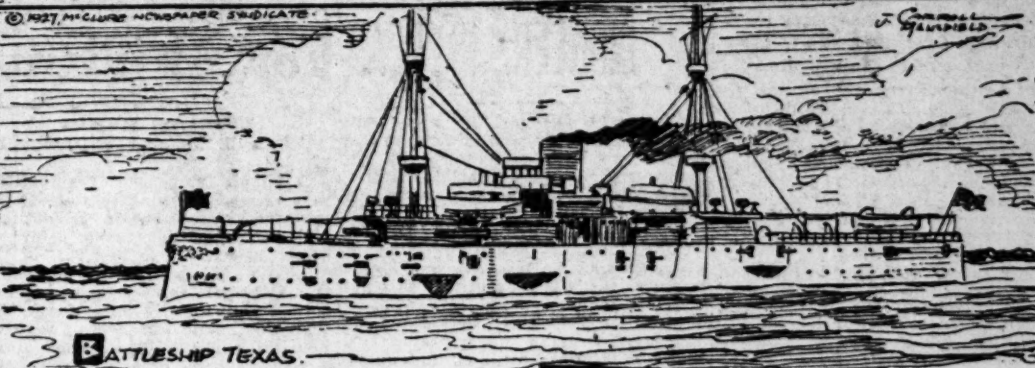

TO ADD TO THE WARSHIPS OF THE "WHITE SQUADRON", CONGRESS IN 1885 AUTHORIZED THE BUILDING OF FOUR MORE STEEL NAVAL VESSELS, THE CRUISERS "CHARLESTON", "BALTIMORE", "PHILADELPHIA" AND "NEWARK". THE "CHARLESTON" WAS THE FIRST AMERICAN WARSHIP TO ELIMINATE SAILS ENTIRELY AS AUXILIARIES TO HER STEAM POWER.

AT THE SAME TIME CONGRESS, EAGER TO REGAIN FOR THE UNITED STATES ITS FORMER PRESTIGE ON THE SEA, ORDERED THE BUILDING OF THE GUNBOATS "PETREL" AND "YORKTOWN", AND IN 1886 AUTHORIZED THE COMPLETION OF FOUR POWERFUL MONITORS, THE "MIANTOMOH", "AMPHITRITE", "MONADNOCK" AND "TERROR", AND THE BUILDING OF A FIFTH, THE "MONTEREY".

Our New Navy.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

CONGRESS CONTINUED TO APPROPRIATE LARGE SUMS FOR NAVAL CONSTRUCTION AND TURNED ITS ATTENTION TO LARGER TYPES OF WARSHIPS. THE KEEL OF OUR FIRST BATTLESHIP, THE "TEXAS", WAS LAID IN 1888.

INSPECTION INVITED

See for yourself the high type of material and workmanship used in homes in their different stages of construction built by Atlanta Realty & Construction Company

654 MORNINGSIDE DRIVE

This house is open for inspection this week—day and night. All visitors welcome.

ONLY by personal visit can you see and realize the splendid technique and sturdy construction that is found in this beautiful home at 654 Morningside Drive, now open for inspection. Go over this house thoroughly, inspect every nook and corner from basement to roof. Compare the materials and workmanship with any other house at an equal price. You'll be quickly convinced of its superior construction and will wonder how we can do it.

LET US BUILD FOR YOU

Nowhere can you find a more practical and economical way to build your home than the three methods offered by the Atlanta Realty and Construction Company. If you own a lot or have a substantial equity in a lot or enough cash to make a fair payment towards the purchase of a lot, you have everything necessary. We do the rest. (Investigate this plan fully.) Be fair to yourself and family. Get the facts about the Atlanta Realty and Construction Company's methods of operation.
